Urges Added Atomic Pacts

Agreement Would Include 4 Nations, Eisenhower Says

Washington — President Eisenhower today sent Congress a message urging the transfer of atomic information and equipment for nuclear weapons training to West Germany, Turkey, the Netherlands and Canada.

The agreements will go into effect automatically in 60 days unless Congress vetoes them.

One of the pacts — between the United States on the one hand and West Germany, the Netherlands and Turkey on the other — stipulates there will be no transfer of actual atomic weapons, non-nuclear parts of such weapons, or special nuclear material.

A separate agreement with Canada provides for sending to that nation certain non-nuclear parts of atomic weapons to improve the training and operational readiness of Canada's armed forces.

Both agreements call for transfer of certain secret information in the atomic field. The pact with West Germany, the Netherlands and Turkey is based on an agreement reached in Paris in December 1957.

Assail Democrats

GOP Says Politics Hampers Program

Washington — Republican congressional leaders today accused Democratic presidential hopefuls at the capitol of sniping at the administration for their own political profit.

Without putting it in so many words at a White House news conference, they left no doubt their contention was that politicking is getting in the way of the people's business.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the house GOP chief, came closest to that point after summing up the exchange for recording cameras.

Nomination Efforts He said the activity will "lead to a lot of confusion and probably won't be too good for the country."

Halleck and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the senate Republican leader, talked with newsmen after the weekly session of GOP leaders in Congress with President Eisenhower. They gave no indication whether Eisenhower shares their views on the point.

Halleck called it "a little unfortunate that the stampede for the Democratic nomination for president has started so early."

Without naming names, he said the hopefuls "are just scratching around for something to say."

That, he added, is the standard way to seek a presidential nomination.

Asked whether Halleck had reflected his views, Dirksen said with a smile:

"I thought Mr. Halleck dealt very adequately with the matter."

Halleck mentioned several pending bills—in such fields as housing, labor, aid to education and pollution control—and said they either would add tremendously to the cost of government, or are contrary to administration views in other respects.

The senate and the house have passed separate housing bills, both out of line with administration recommendations as to spending and other provisions.

Dirksen Thinks Strauss Will Win Approval

Washington — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted at the White House today that the senate will confirm Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Dirksen said he reviewed pending important nominations with the president, and he added that in the case of Strauss:

"I think there are enough votes for confirmation."

Earlier, at the capitol, Dirksen had indicated he believed he was having success with quiet missionary work in behalf of Strauss.

"I feel decently happy about the prospect that Strauss will be confirmed," Dirksen said. "I find that some members of the senate are willing to listen to quiet, persuasive arguments at a high level on this matter."

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), who voted against Strauss when the senate commerce committee approved the nomination by a 9-8 vote last week, said he had been told senate action could go for or against the appointee by a margin of as few as two votes.

Assembly Votes Cities Power to Condemn Land Without Juries

Madison — A proposal to change the constitution to give cities and villages power to condemn land without a jury verdict was passed by the assembly, 65 to 31, today and sent to the senate.

A group of Milwaukee Democrats, who voted against the proposal last week, swung over to help push the measure through. The proposal hit a snag last week when it failed to draw the required 51 votes for passage. This action was reconsidered, 67 to 25, to pave the way for today's action.

Joseph Greco, D-Milwaukee, led the fight against passage contending the jury verdict is necessary to protect a property owner's rights. A Milwaukee slum clearance project is being carried out in his district.

Congressman Withrow Prepares for Surgery

Washington — Rep. Gardner Withrow (R-Wis.) today entered Walter Reed hospital prior to undergoing surgery Wednesday morning.

An office aide did not disclose the nature of the ailment, but said it was not considered serious. The congressman is expected to be at the hospital for ten days to two weeks.

House Refuses To Cut Funds For President

Also Won't Reduce Entertainment Cash Of State Department

Washington — The house has refused to trim money appropriated directly to the president, or interfere with how it is spent.

It also has refused to slash the state department's "representation allowances." In plain words that is the department's liquor and entertainment fund which allows it to keep up its end of social obligations abroad.

Amendments to do these things were offered yesterday as the house debated appropriations bills for the executive and state departments.

Must Trust President

One of the amendments, by Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio), would have required the president to account for spending of a $1 million national defense emergency fund.

Attacking the amendment, Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (D-Va.) of the appropriations committee said "when we get to the point where we can't trust the president of the United States with a million dollars then it's time to get another president. You've got to trust somebody."

A voice vote defeated the amendment.

Charles A. Ward Dies

Once Prison Inmate, He Headed Large Firm

St. Paul — Charles A. Ward, who rose from a homeless wanderer and prison inmate to head one of the nation's largest advertising specialty firms, died last night in Los Angeles while on a business trip. He would have been 73 Friday.

Ward was president and general manager of Brown & Bigelow, St. Paul, a firm he had headed since 1933.

Officials of the firm here were notified that Ward was reading in bed in a Los Angeles hotel when he was stricken. Cause of death was not determined immediately but it was believed to have resulted from a heart attack.

Known as Philanthropist Ward, who in recent years was known for his philanthropic and humanitarian accomplishments, came to Brown & Bigelow in 1925 as a $25 a week factory apprentice. He had befriended the late H. H. Bigelow, then president, while the two were serving sentences at Leavenworth federal prison.

Ward became foreman and later departmental superintendent, then general manager. When Bigelow drowned in a hunting accident in 1933, the board of directors elevated Ward from vice president to president.

The two met in Leavenworth while Ward served a term on a narcotics charge he said was "trumped-up" because of his association with other people. Bigelow served a term for income tax evasion. Ward later was granted a presidential pardon by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Helped Thousands

Along with his success in business Ward gave thousands of dollars to medical foundations and research, hospitals and youth projects, and helped thousands of individuals get a fresh start after adversity.

During Ward's presidency,

Lies in State for 24 Hours Before Services Tomorrow; World Leaders to be Present

Washington — John Foster Dulles' body was brought to lie in state today in a quiet vaulted chapel of imposing Washington National cathedral.

Just at noon time, the sky gray above, a hearse carrying the flag-draped casket arrived at the chapel entrance where a small crowd had gathered.

Six servicemen carried the casket through a chapel door above which are inscribed the words "The Way of Peace."

Mourning members of Dulles' family followed the casket into flower-decked Bethlehem chapel for a private few moments.

Many Notables Present Dulles' casket was placed in the center of the chapel between 10 marble columns roped off with red velvet.

Many officials of the diplomatic world in which Dulles traveled so extensively had gathered at the cathedral before the body arrived.

Standing in the doorway of the chapel were some of the honorary pallbearers, selected by Dulles' widow. Among them were Adm. Arthur Radford, acting chairman of the joint chiefs of staff and Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., and Douglas Dillon.

An honor guard from the armed services will stand watch until the funeral service tomorrow.

For the funeral, the casket will be moved from the chapel into the great cathedral.

Burial will be in Arlington National cemetery across the Potomac from Washington.

Soviet Russia's Andrei Gromyko, one of Dulles' chief adversaries in the cold war, was flying to Washington today for the funeral.

He left the foreign ministers' conference in Geneva about the same time as Sec. of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, and British Foreign Sec. Selwyn Lloyd.

West Germany's 83-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was to fly here today, a rare gesture of respect to a man of another country who held a lesser office according to protocol.

A great outpouring of words, praise and condolences came from almost every quarter of the world, even from the citadel of communism, Moscow.

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said yesterday "Dulles was a very great statesman. He was a very intelligent. He was a

Senate Group Approves Reid For Israel Post

Washington — The senate foreign relations committee today approved Ogden R. Reid's nomination as ambassador to Israel by a 10-4 vote over the opposition of Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.).

Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), former chairman of the committee, and Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Russell B. Long (D-La.) joined Fulbright in opposing Reid, 33, former president and editor of the New York Herald-Tribune.

But the committee gave swift and unanimous voice vote approval for President Eisenhower's nomination of career diplomat John M. Cabot, 57, now ambassador to Colombia, to be ambassador to Brazil.

It also approved James G. Parsons, 51, to be assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Sen. Green, 91, issued a statement in which he said of Reid:

"He has had no diplomatic Hudson, Wis., near St. Paul, experience whatsoever, and where he managed about 2,000 acres of dairy farms and since he graduated from college has not been of a nature to acquire competence in diplomacy."

Five young people were killed when their car smashed into a bridge on Highway 61 south of here early today.

It was Iowa's worst traffic accident of the year.

Dead are Leonard Marvin Honeycutt, 18; Edward E. Billings, 16, and Patricia Ann Jones, 17, all of Keokuk, and Robert Branch, 22, and Norine Cornis, 18, both of Fort Madison.

They apparently were driving north toward Fort Madison from Keokuk when the car struck the one-way bridge five miles south of here. Deputy Sheriff Ralph Einstanjer said.

It was not immediately determined who was driving the car, a 1954 Ford, which was registered to Mrs. Violet Beatrice Branch, mother of Robert Branch, he said.

Four of the persons were killed outright. Billings, who was thrown from the car and landed in Devils creek, died at a Fort Madison hospital about an hour later.

No Soviet Action Seen on West Berlin

Berlin — Tomorrow is the deadline Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev originally set for ending the military occupation of West Berlin. But the Soviet embassy gave assurances today that nothing will be done to disturb the city now.

Secret Talks at Geneva Scheduled To Start Friday

Geneva — With secret Big Four talks on Germany scheduled to start Friday, Sec. of State Christian A. Herter urged Russia today to negotiate a Berlin settlement which would unite that divided city under its own constitution pending German unification.

Diplomatic informants said Herter spoke at the outset of today's brief session of the 4-power foreign ministers conference in advance of his departure for Washington with the British and French ministers to attend the funeral of John Foster Dulles.

Gromyko Absent Russia was represented at the session by Valerian Zorin because Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko already had taken off for Washington.

Earlier, Gromyko and British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, who represented the west, agreed that on Friday when the conference resumes it will go into private sessions.

The private meetings are designed to permit more serious negotiation on Berlin, and possibly on a summit conference.

Herter spelled out details of Little Rock, Ark. — Gov. Orval E. Faubus met a major defeat Monday in Little Rock's integration feud with the recall of three segregationists from the school board.

Faubus had put himself squarely behind the segregationists in the recall election which sprung from an uprising of a group of citizens over the firing of 44 teachers.

All three of them were defeated, including the board's president, Ed I. McKinley, who was ousted by a vote of 13,347 to 11,855.

At the same time the three moderates, who said they prefer some integration to no schools, won a vote of confidence by retaining their seats.

Must Fill Vacancies It is now up to the Pulaski County Board of Education to fill the vacancies. The board's five members, all political unknowns here, have kept their own counsel as to their plans.

Faubus twice went on television in the closing days of the bitter campaign to plead for retention of the segregationists. He called the controversy over firing of the teachers a smoke screen for integration.

The governor urged the ouster of the three moderate members. Their supporters had started the recall movement. The moderates walked out of a board meeting May 5 when the segregationists began their teacher purge.

Two days later a group of business and professional men

Seek Changes in State Constitution

Two Dozen Resolutions Calling for Amending 111-Year-Old Charter In the 1939 Legislative Mill

Madison —Desire for a change in Wisconsin's constitution continues.

At least two dozen resolutions calling for amending the 111-year old document are in the 1939 legislative mill.

This is considered about par. Some past sessions had more than 24 such proposals, some have had less.

Changing the constitution is no small task. Two successive legislatures must say they favor a change and then the people make the final decision in a referendum.

There have been many instances in which two legislatures agreed on a specific alteration but the grass-roots later took over and said they were satisfied with the constitution the way it was.

First attempt to change the constitution came in 1853. This failed. It concerned the election of assembly members. More attempts to change have followed in nearly every legislative session since. Through the years there have been more than 100 resolutions for changing the basic principles of governmental organization and operation. Sixty—some won approval.

First Rejected

One of the first ones to be rejected by the people sought to increase the governor's salary. He was getting $1,250 a year and it was proposed that he get $2,500. The people said no. That was 1861-62.

Times or governors must have improved by 1868-69 because proposition came up again and the citizens said yes. They made the salary $5,000. Now the state's chief executive gets $20,000.

The current batch of proposed changes covers many subjects. Some have been through the works before but never made the grade. Thus far in the session that's in its fifth month the resolutions have moved slowly. Many of most of them will fall by the wayside in favor of concentration or more pressing matters.

Five senators, probably sensing problems posed by a plentiful supply of proposed changes, have introduced a bill in this field.

They want the legislature to set up a non-partisan interim committee to give the constitution a fresh study in view of changing times and come back to the 1941 legislature with a report.

Pending Proposals

Some of the pending proposals would:

Increase municipal debt limit for purposes other than schools; boost the debt limits for school districts; require that supreme court justices be elected by districts instead of statewide; have the supreme court apportion legislative districts when a legislature declines to do so; have the state guarantee loans for industrial purposes; provide state money for port improvements; increase the terms of constitutional officers from two to four years.

Abolish the offices of secretary of state and treasurer; provide for annual meetings of the legislature; give assemblymen 4-year instead of 2-year terms; authorize counties to adopt new forms of government; eliminate the ban against sheriffs serving more than two consecutive terms; authorize a county board to initiate amendments to the constitution.

Grand Jury Indicts Man For Perjury

Chicago —A beer distributor from suburban Melrose Park has been named in the first indictment returned by a special federal grand jury investigating organized crime in the Midwest.

The indictment, returned Monday in U. S. District court, accused Joseph Bronge of lying twice to the grand jury.

Bronge said "No" when asked April 1 whether he ever had been forced to hire a beer salesman and discussed the hiring subject with anyone at Fox Head brewery of Waukegan, Wis.

The grand jury said these replies were untrue and constituted perjury. The jury said the questions were asked to determine whether illegal pressure was exerted to induce beer distributors to hire unwanted employees.

The jury has given much attention to Tony Accardo of Relief Planned For Victims of Mexican Quake

Damage Heavier Than Initial Reports Indicated

Oaxaca, Mexico —A government relief program was launched today for southern Mexican sufferers from Sunday's earthquake. Delayed reports brought out that damage was much heavier than was first reported.

At Nochistlan, along the international highway, virtually the whole population of 2,562 was uprooted. Almost all houses were so badly damaged they had to be abandoned. The school building collapsed.

Couple Killed

An aged couple was killed when their small house in Nochistlan crumpled upon them, bringing the known dead in the earthquake to three. An 8-year-old girl was killed in Reyes Etia, 12 miles from this capital of the southwestern state of Oaxaca, by a toppling church tower.

Gov. Alfonso Perez Garza of Oaxaca state, which bore the brunt of the earth shock, made a personal survey of damaged towns to set up the relief program.

Most of the houses and some other buildings in the area are flimsily constructed—usually of unburnt clay bricks—and are easily shaken down.

Here in the state capital nearly all the glass in the business district was shattered. Plaster fell in churches. Ten persons were injured.

Severe Damage

Severe damage to houses and churches was reported from Teposcolol, 60 miles north of here on the highway to Puebla and Mexico City.

In Tamazulapam, a few miles from Teposcolol, a new girls' school collapsed and most of the houses were badly damaged.

Scores were reported homeless in Texomaxtlahuaca, 80 miles west of Oaxaca.

Chicago, a leftover from the gangster era of Al Capone.

Federal investigators say Accardo draws an annual salary of $60,000 as a salesman for Premium Beer Sales, Inc. of Chicago, without venturing near the firm's office.

Premium is the distributor for Fox Head beer.

Presbyterian Church Says

Hard to Tell Difference Between Christians and Non-Christians

Indianapolis —Judging by the way they act, it's hard to tell the difference between a Christian and a non-Christian.

That's the troubled conclusion of a report presented today to the 171st general assembly of the United Presbyterian church.

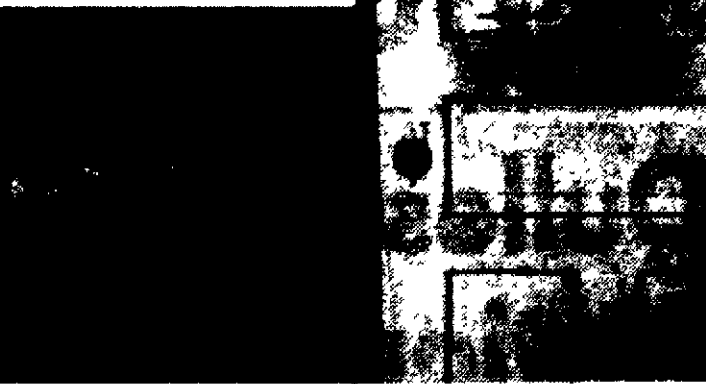

"There is not a sufficient discernible difference between the goals, purposes, morals and aspirations of the average church member and those of his non-Christian friends," the analysis said.

De Brozzo said that Lewis admitted dropping the lighted end of the cigarette on the floor in the room where the fire started and leaving without making a check to see that it was extinguished.

David Lewis, 3, and his sisters, Harriet, 11, and Robin, 6 months, were asphyxiated. Medical examiners said none of the youngsters suffered burns.

Lewis' wife, Bernice, 22, and a woman friend were at the lounge where Lewis had been playing since Sunday afternoon. The fire alarm was turned in a 12:10 a.m. Monday.

Neighbors said the cries of the Lewis children awakened them but they were unable to go to their aid because of a locked door and heavy smoke.

Prince Philip Gets Revenge On 2 Newsmen

London —Prince Philip got his revenge yesterday on two of the news photographers who follow him and Queen Elizabeth II about.

Touring the Chelsea flower show with his wife, Philip came to the "Garden of the Future." A demonstrator showed him how to water any part of it by pushing buttons on a control panel.

The prince looked across the lawn and spotted two press photographers firing with flashbulb and camera. Pressing a button, Philip fired back. A shoulder-high wall of water shot up to bathe the cameramen.

The crowd shrieked. The prince guffawed, then strode across the grass to inquire, "Did you get very wet?"

"It's nothing really, sir," the photographers replied, smiling damply.

Ballot Boxes Stuffed in Judicial Vote

Connecticut Solens Cast More Ballots Than Member Total

Hartford, Conn. —The ballot boxes in the Connecticut House of Representatives were stuffed Monday when the members voted on a judicial appointment.

Clerks discovered that 182 "yes" ballots and 103 "no" ballots had been cast by house members in confirming the appointment of Mrs. Margaret Connors Driscoll as a new judge of the state's juvenile court.

Wrong Total

The ballots totaled 285 and there are only 279 members in the House of Representatives.

The clerk passed the word to House Speaker William J. O'Brien who told the members they'd have to vote on the Driscoll appointment again. He referred to the extra ballots as a "grave matter."

On the second vote, there were 170 "yes" ballots and 91 marked "no" for a total of 261, a figure more in keeping with the house enrollment. Each figure was 12 less than on the first vote. Mrs. Driscoll is the first woman ever to be named to a judgeship in a Connecticut state court.

One of Seven

The Driscoll appointment was one of seven up for confirmation by the house. Accordingly, each house member had been given seven ballots marked "yes" or "no" in the little ballot boxes that are handed from desk to desk. Five appointees had been voted on in this way when Mrs. Driscoll's turn came.

On the earlier judicial candidates, the vote totals ranged from 217 to 231, indicating that not every member was casting a ballot on each appointee.

The opposition to Mrs. Driscoll's appointment was considerably heavier than that for any of the other appointees.

Godfrey Flies Plane to His Virginia Farm

New York —Only three weeks after his operation for cancer, Arthur Godfrey has piloted his plane to his Virginia farm and back.

He is reported to have done some swimming and pistol practice at the farm.

A spokesman for the 35-year-old television and radio star revealed that he had flown to the farm near Leesburg Friday for the weekend. He flew back Monday, landing at Teterboro (N.J.) airport. He had a co-pilot.

Godfrey, who was operated on April 30, is staying at his apartment here and making frequent trips to Columbia Presbyterian Medical center for post-operative treatment. He left the hospital May 15. Godfrey's doctors approved the weekend trip, but are enforcing a 60-day ban on work.

Wife of Wisconsin Clergyman Killed

Fowler, Ind. —Mrs. Gilbert Gould, 55, the wife of the Rev. George Gould of Eau Claire, Wis., was killed and he was injured Monday when their automobile and a truck collided at the intersections of U. S. Highway 52 and 41 in northwest Indiana.

State Police said Pastor Gould, of the Evangelical United Brethren church at Eau Claire, was turning off Highway 41, became confused and turned into the path of an auto transport truck driven by Felix Corter, 37, Louisville, Ky. Corter suffered minor injuries.

Negroes Stay Away as Prince Philip Visits

Racial Trouble Spot

Goes to Notting Hill, Scene of Mob Violence Against Immigrants

London —Prince Philip drove into the heart of London's racial trouble spot last night, but the Negroes stayed indoors.

The queen's husband visited Notting Hill, scene of mob violence last year against colored immigrants. The stabbing of a Negro by six white youths 10 days ago has led to fears of fresh rioting.

The prince called at a boy's club where youth workers are trying to teach young Cockneys to get along with their colored neighbors.

No Negroes

But there was no Negroes in the club. Alex Biggs, club warden, said "they just don't come. We would welcome them, but they just don't."

Eastern News Walkout Ends

Pittsburgh Papers Publish Again After Brief Drivers' Strike

Pittsburgh —The Pittsburgh's three daily newspapers were publishing again today following settlement of a brief strike by truck drivers.

The settlement was announced yesterday by federal conciliator George W. Woomer following a 1-hour meeting with the publishers of the Post-Gazette, Sun-Telegraph and Press and representatives of the newspaper, magazine and film delivery drivers, helpers and handlers.

Papers Publish

The Sun-Telegraph and the Press were on the streets a short while later with late afternoon editions. A few hours later, the Post-Gazette was out with its first morning edition.

The strike began Saturday, cutting off delivery of the Sunday editions of the Press and Sun-Telegraph.

The principal issue in the strike was a dispute between the union and the Sun-Telegraph over a pension fund and the employment of a union steward. The truck drivers, whose old contract expired April 1, also had rejected a 10-cent-an-hour wage package. Their basic hourly wage rate under the old pact was $2.661.

Union President Theodore Cozza said "We have come to an understanding in our dispute and we will resume negotiations next week."

Five Persons Killed In California Crash

Malibu, Calif. —Two cars collided with terrific force on the Pacific Coast highway last night, killing five persons.

Four of the dead were trapped in the burning wreckage of their car. Another was killed when thrown from the other car.

Some. But some play on our cricket team Saturdays. They are good cricketers."

Across the street Douglas Stevenson, a Jamaican Negro, stood in the lighted doorway of his house, watching the crowds as the prince rode away. Asked why he didn't go to see the prince, he shrugged his shoulders.

"I just felt maybe I would not be too welcome. The white people keep together and we do too."

There are 5,000 Negroes—mostly recent immigrants from the West Indies and British African territories—mixed among the 80,000 whites living in Notting Hill, a seedy part of Kensington.

Heavy details of police patrolled the district during the prince's visit.

Bit Frightened

A Cockney woman, in explaining the absence of the Negroes, said "they're a bit frightened. Love, I suppose by all these Teddy boys and that."

Inside the club, the prince watched the boys playing table tennis and pool. They were from 10 to 14 years old and some already wore the exaggerated Edwardian dress of the older Teddy boys.

"Do you hate colored people?" a newsman asked one. "Well, I dunno," was the reply. "I suppose I don't mind them, but they spread disease and go 'round with white girls and all that."

Three Cities Attempting To Build Common Airport

Recalls Effort Made Here in 1943 To Establish Field for Fox Cities

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Local officials and business spokesmen Monday asked the help of Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson in persuading the state department of aeronautics to plan for a large tri-city airport to serve the central Wisconsin cities of Stevens Point, Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids.

Nelson was told at a conference in his office that the unique cooperative airport plan has strong backing in the Wood and Portage county region, but is being disparaged by T. K. Jordan, head of the state aviation agency.

Once Proposed Here

(Development of a large airport in Calumet county, southeast of Appleton, to serve the Fox Cities was proposed as early as 1943. More recently there has been talk to move the Outagamie airport to a location which would more adequately serve Appleton, Neenah and Menasha.)

They asked the governor to arrange for an objective survey of the possibilities of a joint airport to replace a series of small and inadequate landing fields that will never provide modern air transport the central industrial region needs, as they put it.

The governor said he is uncertain about how such a survey can be arranged, but would consult Jordan about it.

The delegation that included a dozen of the principal business and civic leaders of the neighborhood and Mayor James Wendt of Marshfield, complained that the state department position is based upon old studies no longer relevant.

Could Cooperate

They said the three cities can collaborate in financing a new, major airport at a central location, such as Milledore on the Portage-Wood county line, that would be far superior to the separate facilities the communities now have or are planning to build. Mayor Wendt said that current airport construction or improvement plans of the three towns would aggregate $790,000.

John Joanis of Stevens Point, an executive of the Hardware Mutual Insurance company, said that opinion in his town is swinging toward a central tri-city airport since North Central Airlines has cut Stevens Point flights by one-third because of its use of the larger Convair aircraft.

Wendt said he is asking for authorization to postpone the letting of bids for the approved $400,000 airport at Marshfield, pending the disposition of the joint airport plan.

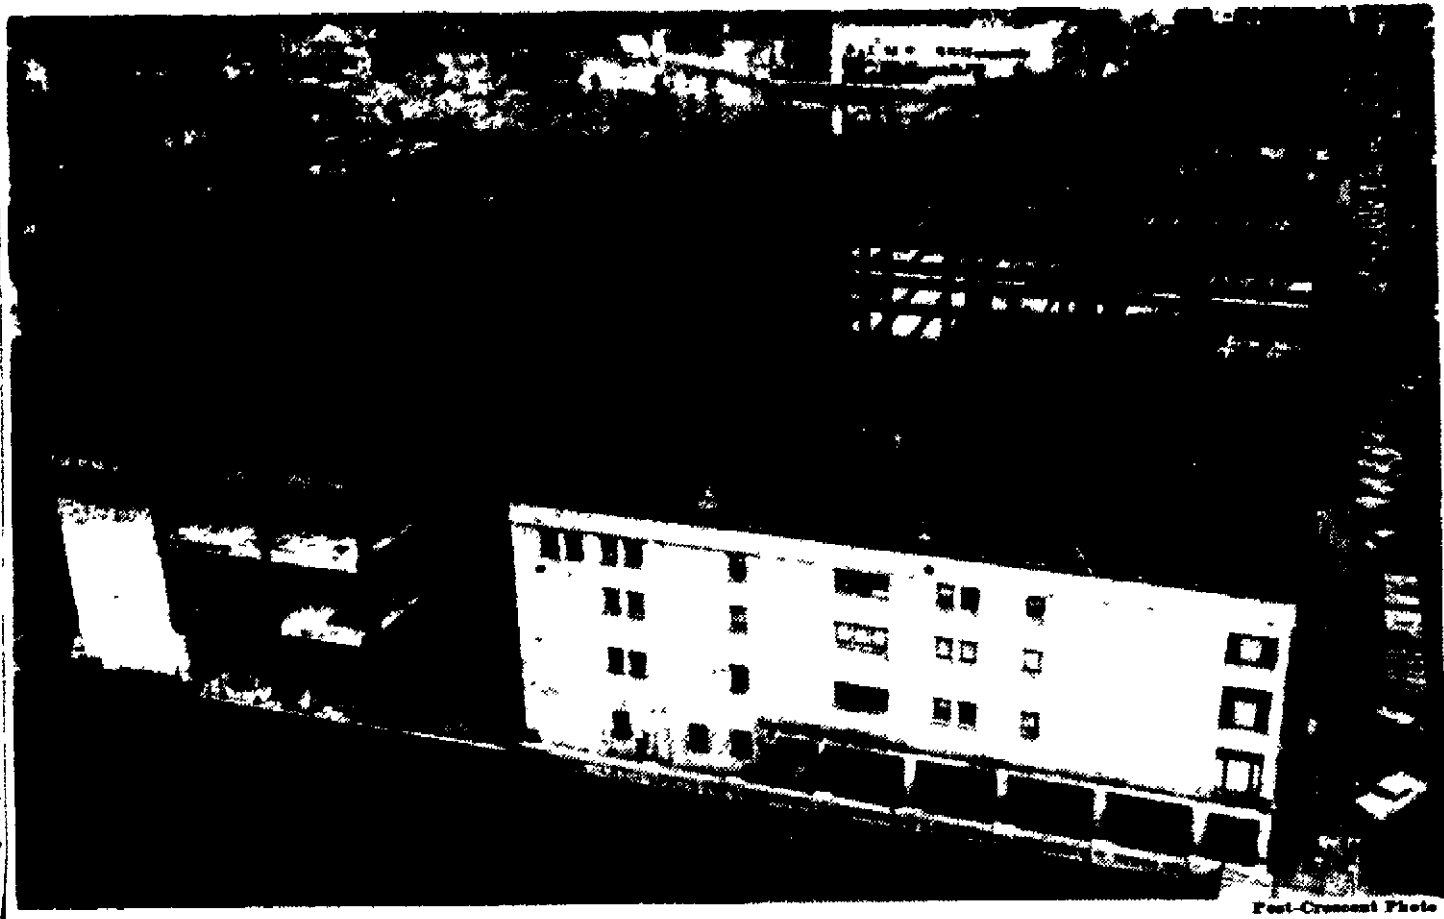

Size Drawback

"The future of aviation won't provide for many stops, offering a plan to cooperate to at the smaller airports," said

Joanis. "We'd like to develop a transportation center rather than have a few scattered flights."

Nelson read a letter from Jordan in which the state aviation agency head said the state airport development plan calls for airports in all cities, for the development of feeder airline service, and recalling that other joint airport projects (including proposals for Appleton-Oshkosh-Green Bay and Manitowoc-Sheboygan, among others) have repeatedly been ruled out as not feasible.

The delegation was presented by Milton Schneider of Wisconsin Rapids, an old Nelson political associate, who remarked that the governor often "speaks about demands for new public services that cost money. We are here of won't provide for many stops, offering a plan to cooperate to at the smaller airports," said

H. C. Prange Company's new store construction, as seen from atop the Aid Association for Lutherans neon sign, dwarfs the present store (solid white building at lower right). Construction has begun over Midway street, at back of the present store. Progress in building floors and walls on the first part of the project (lower left) is evident.

Former Appleton Man's View of Virgin Birth Questioned

Controversy over the virgin birth of Christ is not expected to prevent a former Appleton man from becoming president of San Francisco Theological Seminary, operated by the United Presbyterian church.

Dr. Theodore A. Gill, who attended Appleton High school from 1933 to 1935 and who has been acting president of the seminary since last fall, is accused by west coast critics of saying that he does not believe Jesus Christ was born of a virgin.

Their charges may be presented formally Wednesday, when his appointment will be presented for confirmation before the church delegates. The group was described as "small but vocal."

The statement attributed to Dr. Gill appeared in a 1958 Easter editorial in the Christian Century, a nondenominational magazine of which he was formerly managing editor.

Gill was born Jan. 7, 1920, in Eveleth, Minn. In 1933, he enrolled in Appleton High school after attending school in Denmark, Wis. On Oct. 4, 1935, he transferred to Fond du Lac High school. The family's address on school records was 1103 E. Pacific and his father was listed as A. Gill.

Crim came upon an accident near Claremore, Okla. He lifted several persons from a car that had collided with another car. He then administered first aid and helped control traffic until they could be taken to a hospital.

To Your Good Health

Some Food Preservatives Approved by Government

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am enclosing a strip from a package of rice and you'll note it says, 'BHT added as preservative.' Up to now I thought rice escaped preservatives."

Of course I don't know what BHT is, nor do most housewives. Would you discuss preservatives?—O. A. S."

BHT means "butylated hydroxy-toluene," which gets us no farther, I suppose, except that this is an anti-oxidant. It keeps the food from oxidizing, or absorbing oxygen. (When metal rusts, it oxidizes.) In foods, preventing oxidation means, essentially, that you keep it from becoming rancid.

I receive a great many questions about food preservatives of one kind or another. I won't say that I know all about food preservatives, but I do know how much care and study are spent by the Food and Drug administration in examining every chemical used for this purpose. It is tremendous. So, for the health of my own family, and the health of my own body, I believe all of the approved preservatives to be both useful and safe. I don't worry; I don't think you should.

Tumorous Growth

"Dear Dr. Molner: I had an osteochondroma removed from my hand a month ago. Now I notice one on the other hand. Should I have it removed? What are they? What makes them come?—H. V. H."

An osteochondroma is a tumorous growth at the junction of cartilage and bone. Like any tumor, it is a faulty growth of tissue, but the exact cause is rarely known. Osteochondromas usually are removed because they interfere with the action of a joint, or because they mar your appearance, or because they are painful.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coins to cover handling. (Copyright, 1959)

Many Praise Dulles as U. S. Mourns Death

Dedication to Duty, Courage, Theme of Laudatory Remarks

Washington—(AP)—John Foster Dulles was praised for courage and dedication to duty as the nation mourned his death from cancer.

Those attributes provided a common theme for laudatory statements following the death yesterday of the former secretary of state in Walter Reed army hospital.

From President Eisenhower, from diplomats, from Republican and Democratic congress members and from present and former government officials came the tributes to the man who guided U. S. foreign policy during six troubled years of cold war.

"Great Patriot"
Many called him "a great patriot." Some referred to him as "the nation's greatest secretary of state."

Eisenhower sat down on the sun porch of his farm after being told of Dulles' death and wrote a statement praising him as "a foe only to tyranny... a champion of freedom."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon said "Millions... will owe to him an eternal debt of gratitude for the fight he waged for the peace and freedom which they enjoyed."

Good Public Servant
Former President Harry S. Truman said "We've lost a good public servant, and I'm as sorry as I can be."

Former President Herbert Hoover called Dulles the nation's greatest secretary of state.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Dulles "truly gave his life in the service of his country." A similar statement came from former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes who said Dulles "sacrificed his life in the cold war instigated by the Soviets."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said "It is deeply tragic that our country has lost the services of this dedicated man." Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican house leader, said the free world "has lost one of its wisest and most courageous champions."

Faithful Dogs Bring About Rescue of Man

Athens, Ga.—(AP)—Thanks to two faithful dogs, 75-year-old John W. Hale was rescued after lying helpless for three days in the mud of a spring in the woods.

Over 1,000 persons had searched for Hale since he wandered away from his home five miles north of here.

Yesterday a neighbor, Joe Aaron, followed his barking dog into a pasture where he heard faint cries for help. He found Hale lying in mud and water, one leg doubled under him. Hale's beagle barked and whined.

Hale, suffering from exposure and dehydration, first asked for food, then told Aaron:

"I thought you'd never come. Please take good care of my dog... he sure stuck by me."

Hale's condition was reported between fair and serious at an Athens hospital.

More Trouble in the Farm Program

Not long ago the nation was shocked when Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) told the senate that the chief beneficiaries of the price support program were the big corporation farms. He pointed to one in Arkansas that had received a subsidy of $1,400,000 and another in Mississippi whose owners had received $1,167,502 and a California farmer who had received $854,450.

Of course there was a big noise about the big fellows getting all the gravy and they certainly were because the three payments mentioned amounted to more than the total of all payments on all crops in 1937 to farmers in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The big operators were getting money under the soil bank program also. Sixty-seven farms received checks of more than $50,000 for taking land out of production and one Kansas farmer was paid $278,187 for not raising wheat and an Arizona firm received $209,701 for not growing cotton.

Since the nation was shocked at these payments to the big farmers there may be some rejoicing to learn that some of the little fellows have learned how to get easy money out of the soil bank. In Colorado, for example, some 49 persons are collecting $8 an acre from the soil bank on land leased from the state of Colorado for $2 an acre. A federal worker has been revealed as holding a five year lease on lands owned by the state of New Mexico for which he pays 25 cents an acre. He has put this land into the soil bank for $7.70 an acre. It's a nice business and since the windfall appears to be going to some of the smaller fellows we presume the soil bank advocates who really are out to help the little fellow will rejoice.

At any rate there is nothing for these people to worry about for the present because the agricultural department officials have told investigators that the procedure is legal. They say if a person holds a valid lease on state-owned land and if the land actually has been used for producing crops it is eligible for conservation reserve contracts on the same basis as privately owned land.

The purpose of the soil bank program is to take land out of production. We have never been able to see why tears should be shed over the fact that the government leases large tracts of land from corporation farms. The goal to get the land out of production can be accomplished that way much easier and at less expense than contracting with a great number of small farmers. Besides, one of the goals of the farm program is to keep the family farmer on the land and of course, that cannot be done if his land is to be taken over by the soil bank.

The criticism here, we think, should be on the amount paid for such land. It is reported that the government pays a national average rate of $13.50 an acre to keep crop land idle under three to ten year contracts. No one will be able to understand why the government must pay $7, $8 or $9 an acre for lands that can be leased for 25 cents unless it is to increase the small farmer's income. If that is the case then there is nothing to gas about in these transactions. The government is evidently determined to give the farmers some money under one pretext or another. But the consumer and the taxpayer who is paying for all such benefits may wonder if it isn't time for him to share in them, at least to some extent.

Confident Young People Will Not Abuse Right to Drink Beer

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The 13-21 year old young adults of the City of Appleton have been given the legal right to drink beer in properly licensed and operated establishments. This right carries with it the concomitant obligation to show clearly to every impartial observer the individual's willingness and ability to exercise his freedom with discretion and self-discipline. This is the only true type of discipline. Freedom never exists in a vacuum, apart from real life situations and real people. The adults of this community will be watching the youth of this city in the months ahead to make sure they continue to be worthy of the trust which has been placed in them.

Obviously, not every young person between the ages of 13-21 will desire or is required to exercise their franchise to drink beer. Those who choose to share in the benefits of this freedom will do so with wise restraint and disciplined self-control. The decision to drink temperately or to abstain completely is a highly individualistic one, and it must be respected without condemnation by every person within the group. No young person ought to feel impelled, as the result of this local legislation, to go against the religious training he has received at home and at church. He must obey the dictates of his own conscience. Certainly, every young person in this age bracket will respect the decision his friends make in their handling of this particular freedom. No stigma attaches either to temperance or to abstinence. The absence of discipline leads to slavery not to freedom. "Service is perfect freedom."

I am confident the young people of this community will not abuse the freedom they have been given, and they will accept gladly the obligations which the right to drink beer has placed upon them.

Alderman Denies Changing Mind on Beer Bar Problem

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I wish to correct a statement attributed to Ald. Stumpf that appeared in the Thursday, May 21st, edition of the Post-Crescent.

The Ninth ward alderman gave three reasons in attempting to offer a plausible excuse for his complete about face, on the young adult beer drinking issue.

Reason one was that Ald. Tucker, Mueller and Schumacher had changed their minds on the issue, thereby weakening the Ordinance committee recommendation.

I cannot speak for Ald. Mueller or Schumacher as I have not consulted them. Speaking for myself, I deny without reservation, the truth of that statement.

My personal recommendation was that the issue be brought to the attention of a committee of the entire city council. I felt and still do, that 20 aldermen could possibly arrive at a decision that would gain popular approval, for whatever course of action was deemed advisable and warranted.

When the alderman of the Ninth ward appeared before the welfare and ordinance committee, May 11, he was very positive in his thinking that young adults should not be allowed to drink or purchase beer in the City of Appleton.

He pointed out that while on a personal inspection tour of certain beer taverns, his car had been ransacked.

It is regrettable that the issue was not debated on the council floor, to allow any alderman, who had the courage of his convictions, to clearly state his position on this issue. If some other plan is submitted, I am sure the entire council, including Ald. Tucker, Mueller and Schumacher will give it careful and thoughtful consideration.

It doesn't seem reasonable to penalize the great majority of young adults, in order to attempt to control the actions of a small minority. Discipline and social behavior training must start in the home and long before youngsters reach the 18 to 21 age group. Let's not shift responsibility. If we have a problem, let's face up to it and bend our efforts to solve it humanely thoughtfully and intelligently.

Many communities have taken the easy way out. Appleton should not and I feel sure will not, follow suit. We are leaders in our thinking and actions, so let's pool our efforts in making our City a finer community for all age groups.

Disturbed Taxpayer Worries State Senator

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — Jottings from a statehouse political beat: The most widely quoted remark of the current legislative session may be that of Sen. Chester Dempsey of Waukesha county, who rarely talks much on the floor.

As a colleague was explaining the needs of emotionally disturbed children for new state treatment service, Dempsey rumbled a question: "What about the emotionally disturbed taxpayer?"

The top-heavy 20 to 2 vote of approval to a more liberal truck weight limit law the other day was one of the surprising developments of the year, remembering that the trucks only a few years ago were fighting a strong anti-truck bias in the legislature.

The man the truckers can thank, if they get their new weight law, is the dean of the sleep — especially after 12 hours of nightly labor at the local plant.

One of the dogs is the small white fluffy type. A type everyone loves — kinda. To top it off this little bundle of joy furnished a short staccato type of yapping music that will penetrate any type of wall, even the insulated wall. Much less an open window. The big brown dog furnishes a long drawn sonorous wolfhound type of music. A little more pleasant for the ears.

I suppose the right way to combat such a situation is to bark right back at the dogs owners. But that would be taking unfair advantage of the dogs. Or one can complain to the police. But they have more important work to do.

Perhaps this method of complaining will remedy the situation.

Concerned by Council Action On Beer Bars

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We were very sorry to read in a paper that your city council recently has unanimously ignored your own welfare committee on the council and refused to ban beer to young people under 21. It also seems to have considered unimportant the opinion of the ministerial association and the Council of Churches, as well as the existence of violations of the present age limitation in a local tavern.

Is this representative of government in Appleton? Such insensitivity to public need and opinion prompts us to reconsider sending our sons to Lawrence college there.

Looking Backward

Paper Urges Citizenship Check

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 29, 1880.

There are a great many illegal voters in Wisconsin and elsewhere, although they do not generally know it for the reason they came here as minors from some foreign country and also because their fathers were voters, they supposed that when they arrived at the age of 21 years, they were voters, also.

All whose parents get full naturalization papers are voters, but the children, born in a foreign land to parents who only declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, are not legal voters and have no right to cast a ballot for any office unless they declare intention or get out full papers at once, which they have the right to do. If any man wants to be made a full citizen at once it must be done when circuit court is in session.

It will therefore pay every young man, who was born in a foreign land, to look up his father's naturalization papers and see if he has his first or second papers.

There is another error in the public mind which ought to be eradicated. A great many foreigners have been informed and believe that because they have served in the armies of the United States they are citizens and voters. This is not so unless they are admitted by a court of record.

Remember that full naturalization papers can only be obtained in open court. The June term of our circuit court will commence June 7, 1880, at which time you should appear with your first papers and two citizens of the United States who have known you for five years.

Carl Sherry was reelected president and Kurt Koletzke was named secretary of the police and fire commission. Mr. Koletzke succeeded George Dame.

Three new trustees, James B. Wagg, Henry Boon and Herman F. Heckert, were elected at the quarterly conference of the Methodist church.

A delegation of 14 Appleton dentists attended the thirty-first annual convention of the Fox River Dental society at Oshkosh. The men were Dr. R. C. Joyce, Dr. R. J. Stingle, Dr. M. Goeres, Dr. S. L. upper house. Sen. Jess Miller of Richland Center. What Miller says on highway affairs usually goes. He is trusted.

CANDIDATE

Sen. Robert Travis of Platteville, the GOP leader in the upper house, is virtually certain to make a bid for the Republican congressional nomination in the third district next year, to succeed Rep. Gardner Withrow of LaCrosse who has said he wants to retire.

Most capitol observers expect Morris Slaveny, a Madison lawyer who has served as a member of the state labor board for the last six years, to be reappointed by Gov. Nelson. The talk of the town is, moreover, that the governor will choose a career man from the staff for the chairmanship of the state highway commission after Chairman Harold Plummer steps down in July. Widely mentioned as a likely choice is Wesley Burmeister, now head of the big maintenance division of the highway department.

One of the reasons for the featuring of GOP National Chairman Thurston Morton at the Green Bay Republican convention is the feeling among some of the more conservative party titans in Wisconsin that the new national organization commander is too "liberal." The state organization wants to sell Morton here before the next campaigns open up.

APPOINTMENTS

That Gov. Nelson may be planning his appointments more carefully, with a view to the political climate, is suggested by his brilliant handling of two selections to the board of regents of state colleges recently.

He deliberately defied the tradition that regents must be residents of cities in which the state colleges are located, but in such a way that senators who might have wanted to challenge him didn't feel free to do so. One reason was that the new regents were only a few miles removed, by residence, from the location of the colleges. But the governor has now breached the unwritten rule successfully, and future governors are likely to have a free hand in such matters.

Sen. Alexander Wiley, the state's ranking Republican politician, is paying less attention to local party affairs than ever. The recent Republican district caucuses were held without even the usual message from the senator.

When legislators talk about "characters" in legislative history, they tend to reminisce about former Sen. Benny Gettelman of Milwaukee, one of the most colorful men ever to serve under the capitol dome. Gettelman made capital out of his humble origins and unlettered condition. He was kicked out of the third grade, he never tired of relating, because he had refused the teachers' command to shave.

Teachers' Salaries

Beardsley Ruml, the economist who worked out the federal pay-as-you-go taxation plan, now has come out for reorganization of colleges to make them more efficient and effective.

"The most serious general problem facing the colleges," he writes in Memo to a College Trustee, "is the prevailing low level of academic salaries. But he points out that teachers themselves are partly to blame for the situation. Each department's pressure to increase the number of courses, greater specialization, even jealousy and competition between departments, fragment the purpose and operation of departments.

Mr. Ruml, assisted by the late Donald Morrison, former provost of Dartmouth, has given several ways of increasing salaries without raising tuitions. He suggests the drastic cutting of the number of courses, a holding of student-faculty ratios at about 20-1, instituting a flexible pattern in class sizes so that larger classes can be utilized for lectures, cutting the student's class schedule so that independent study and research takes the place of the old-fashioned recitation class, and reducing the teacher's work load to about nine hours of class per week with increased time for research and study.

Much of the criticism aimed at education courses may be simply that the departments have exploded in growth far beyond their needs. Courses in methodology are undoubtedly useful and perhaps necessary for the would-be teacher; but the number of opportunities for such courses now approaches the ridiculous. This fragmentation is less noticeable but probably just as serious in other departments. And the trend is a long way from the advice of Alfred North Whitehead, philosopher of education, who has many times emphasized that good teaching entails a few courses taught well.

In order to cut the number of courses and otherwise overhaul curriculum, Mr. Ruml advocates more authority in the departments in the hands of the president and administration and the trustees of colleges. Certainly this will be protested by many teachers; but it is obvious that interest in one's own department as well as jealousy and competition and desire for prestige would work against change if college teachers have full authority over departments.

Teachers in elementary and secondary schools have long blocked a raise in salaries for the better teachers by insistence upon strict salary schedules which also are easier for boards of education to supervise. It may be that teachers, hesitant administrators and trustees will also hold down the chances for more effective teaching combined with raises in salary on the college level, too.

Spain in NATO?

Back when the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed, the suggestion that Spain become a member was sniffed down. Despite the growing fear of communism, Franco's name was still too much associated with fascism and the nazis for much of a meeting with minds of the free west. But now the tensions toward fascist Spain are not quite so tight.

The primary opponents to Spain's admittance have been France, and Protestant elements in Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium. President De Gaulle has hinted that his country's reluctance could be overcome under the right conditions. The religious opposition probably could be soothed if the Catholic hierarchy in Spain came to realize, as have most church bodies in free nations, that state backing which means state control is far more of a hindrance to the church in the long run than is the equal treatment of all faiths.

The preamble to NATO states that the members "are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law." Obviously Spain lacks these three principles rather noticeably. But who is to decide in exactly what degree members must acquiesce? Turkey's government is far from a democracy as we understand it. The rule of law in France differs considerably from that in England. The United Nations, despite continued opposition to the seating of Red China, long ago gave up trying to determine just what constitutes a "peace-loving nation."

Franco is growing old. It appears that a restoration of the monarchy is more likely than a continuation of the strong man dictatorship when he dies. If Spain's membership can strengthen NATO in its efforts to maintain a bulwark against communism, her entrance should be under serious consideration. It is possible that a little pressure as to the qualifications for such membership could help Spain ease both her governmental and religious restrictions.

Midget Vehicles Must Stay Off Streets

Dan F. Schutz, director of the safety division of the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle department, is calling upon local officials and parents to see that children do not use midget motor vehicles on the streets or highways. Schutz says these tiny vehicles powered by gasoline motors are intended for use on private property only. Since their use is so limited parents should consider carefully before investing in them, he points out, because if they are taken into the streets or onto the highways they will endanger the lives of the operators.

These midget vehicles are not properly equipped to meet the requirements of the state licensing laws. For example, an owner of one of them made application for a license recently but it developed that the vehicle lacked proper brakes, horn, speedometer, rear view mirror, turn signals and stop lights. The same restrictions apply to homemade vehicles because they do not meet the requirements of the law.

Parents and children alike should know that the highway is a dangerous place for any miniature or homemade car that is not equipped with safety devices. It is practically suicide for any child to attempt to operate any of these miniature rigs on the highway.

"I am very sorry that he is dead. Not only I, but the whole Soviet government are sorry."

President Eisenhower will attend the cathedral services at 3 p.m. Wednesday, and also the burial at Arlington. Full military honors, with a 19-gun salute, will be rendered.

organized a movement to stop the teacher purge. They pledged themselves to recall the three segregationists.

Today Robert W. Laster, Little Rock traffic judge and the worst-beaten of the segregationists said: "Well it looks like the people want integrated schools, doesn't it?"

The other two segregationists, McKinley and Ben Rowland, were silent. So was Faubus who was reported at the governor's mansion to be at Stuttgart, Ark.

Laster was recalled by a 14,682 to 11,148 vote, and Rowland, by 13,691 to 11,528.

Everett Tucker, Jr., leader of the moderates, retained his seat by a 13,323 to 12,004 vote. Ted Lamb had the hardest battle among the moderates but ran up a 12,973 to 12,502 favorable vote. The third moderate, Russell Matson, kept his seat by a 12,963 to 12,326 edge.

Elected in December

The six school board members were elected last December after the former members bought up the contract of Supt. Virgil T. Blossom and then quit themselves.

From the start the board was split in bitter dispute. The three who attempted the teacher purge were pledged to support Faubus in his fight with the federal government over integration. The other three had been denounced by the governor as integrationists.

Tucker, Lamb and Matson denied they were integrationists.

Faubus closed the four public high schools last fall under laws he had sponsored at a special legislative session a few months before.

School Closing Supported

The closing was endorsed by a 3 to 1 vote at an election.

Faubus called out the national guard in the fall of 1957 to stop nine Negroes from attending Central High school. He said he had done it to prevent violence but federal courts ordered him to stop interfering with integration. President Eisenhower then moved in federal troops to enforce it the rest of the school year.

The two factions in the recall battle never debated the issue in the two and one-half week campaign, primarily because they disagreed on what it was.

"Then he capitalized on the sweat and blood of the pickets who did the job of setting up the CIO union."

Answers Hoffa

Hoffa's reference obviously was to the strife-ridden 1930s in Detroit when the auto union engaged in repeated union recognition and contract dispute strikes against the auto industry.

Winn, replying on his own to Hoffa, said Reuther did not get beaten up in the UAW's strike against the Ford Motor company "by hiding out in an office."

"And he wasn't hiding out in an office in 1948 when his right arm was nearly shot off in a shotgun blast in an attempt to kill him," Winn said.

On that occasion, in a mysterious assault never yet solved, Reuther was shot through a window of his home.

Winn added: "Employers who gave testimonial banquets to Hoffa wish Reuther had been hiding out in the 1930s and that he had stayed in hiding." Winn did not elaborate.

the Berlin proposal previously presented to Russia as part of the western package for German reunification, European security and disarmament. Gromyko has already rejected the western plan.

Herter noted the connection between the Berlin proposal and the package but did not stress it. Western officials said of his fellow Detroiters: "He's got to have a $100 million treasury in order to call a strike. In the old days we didn't wait for any $100 million before striking. We went out and did the job."

have said they recognize they may have to make an interim arrangement for Berlin outside the package.

The Big Four ministers then took off for Washington. A U. S. Air Force Constellation carrying Herter, Lloyd and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France thundered into the sunlit sky here at 3:52 p.m. It is due in Washington at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Leads Exodus

Gromyko led the exodus from this conference city in early afternoon. He was traveling by commercial aircraft but will return to Geneva Thursday. Herter and Lloyd Thursday night. Couve de Murville will return alone.

Herter, De Murville and Lloyd, wearing dark gray suits, went directly from the palace to the airport. They made no statements. Mrs. Herter accompanied her husband on his sad mission to the Dulles funeral.

The plane is the constellation used by Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO commander in Europe. It was piloted by Maj. Jack Umbaugh of Camden, Ohio, and carried an air force crew of nine.

The flight plan called for two refueling stops on the 4,000-mile flight by way of the Azores.

A second plane, an air force DC-7, took off at 4:08 p.m. with two other members of the Eisenhower cabinet aboard. They are defense Sec. Neil H. McElroy and Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Gromyko had asked Herter about catching a ride with him to Washington, but the American was able to offer only one seat on his plane and the Soviet foreign minister wanted to take several of his assistants along.

Assistant Secy. of State Andrew H. Berding said Herter later sent Gromyko a message offering him two places on the plane leaving Washington Thursday afternoon for the return trip.

"Mr. Gromyko," Berding said, "expressed his appreciation and accepted. He will be accompanied by Mr. Alexander Soldatov."

"The spaces are made available by the fact that Postmaster General and Mrs. Summerfield are making the flight one way to Washington."

Charlie Writes About Journey by Dull Glow of Island Campfire

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An Island in Quebec — I am writing this by the dull glow of my campfire some 35 miles above the capital city of Ottawa. The day has been cold, clear and beautiful. Except for a strenuous time launching "The Green Apple" from a 30-foot cliff, I have had nothing to contend with except time and the river.

After dropping canoe and gear down a hill and off a sheer promontory into the water by ropes and an improvised block and tackle I was off into the west wind.

This was my day to go through canals and a total of seven locks in the Carillon-Greenville system which covers some five miles.

As in the St. Lawrence, the villages and cities along the Ottawa river have long been involved in building locks and canals to by-pass the violent rapids in various segments of the river.

5-Mile Portage

The fur trade stimulated a great many good things, and among them were small by-passing canals and lock systems.

A portage of five miles, as in this area, was a matter which caused much time and gargantuan effort for the fur traders. For efficiency, then, and in the interest of commerce, these canals and locks were started in 1819, and dug by hand.

A 5-mile portage for one reporter, who has not yet won his laurels as a voyageur, would be a Herculean task which would require a full day and at least two trips back and forth. I elected to take advantage of the six locks. The first one, at Carillon would not permit lock privileges to my canoe, so I portaged this one — a matter of a quarter of a mile or so. The others gave me open sesame.

Since there was no adequate launching place (except several miles farther upstream), I elected to launch canoe, motor and gear by an invented block and tackle system.

Canoe Ships Water

In the first try, "The Green Apple" went into the water sideways and shipped water.

I was required to let myself into the cold river and right the canoe and dump the water. I climbed back up the cliff and lowered the motor and gear, piece by piece, dropping each article in the correct position. (One does not crawl around in a canoe on the water!)

Misfortune struck a blow when, in lowering the motor, the tiller hit the rocks and night.

Won't Ask C&NW to Move Depot Back

Committee Takes No Official Action, but Cites Last Year's Talk

The Chicago and North Western railroad will not be asked to move its passenger depot back downtown, the city council's public safety committee indicated Monday.

Ald. Austin Tucker has had a resolution calling for such action before the committee since early April.

Committeemen Monday said that in light of a railroad economy talk given the committee last year by North Western officials they do not believe the request is in order.

However, they withheld official action for at least two more weeks.

Traffic Sgt. John Gosch reported he has begun a study of how police officers could be used at busy intersections during peak travel times, a study suggested by Ald. Ervin J. Bogan.

Recommendations by the committee to be voted upon by Wouff, 717 State street, Menasha.

Daughters to:
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lemke, 519 W. North Water street, Neenah.

Mr. and Mrs. George Messman, 217 Second street, Neenah.

the council Wednesday night.

Acceptance of three 8-cylinder Fords as police cars for the same price, $3,943, as the three 6-cylinder Fords selected after competitive bids. Sherry Motors is unable to furnish the 8-cylinders without some delay, it was said. Chief of Police Hendricks was instructed to keep strict cost records on the machines. The records will be used to compare 6 and 8-cylinder performance.

Extension of the no parking ban on Atlantic street from the Lawe street corner 30 feet east instead of 30 feet. The ban will apply to the north side of the street only.

Health Commissioner, Aldermen to Attend State Health Meeting

Dr. Marvin Kagen, city health commissioner, and Ald. Dorothy Stillings will attend the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Association for Public Health Wednesday at Green Lake.

Mrs. Stillings will be one of six panelists discussing "Roadblocks to Local Public Health" and will talk about whether county boards and city councils can be expected to delegate responsibility for administration of a joint city-county health department to a county board of health.

Further Study Planned On Police Justice Job

Council Units Feel Position May Mean Office Duplication

Kaukauna — The city council's finance committee and legislative committee Monday night both refused to take action on the establishment of a police justice, both deciding the matter warranted additional study.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon spoke against the office at the present time as it would result in duplication of jobs. The city would still be required to have a justice of the peace even though a police justice was appointed, said the mayor.

A police justice would handle all city matters while the justice of the peace would take care of civil matters. If a court reorganization bill is passed, the police justice could handle both city and civil actions, according to Lt. Robert Main of the police force, who along with Chief Harold V. Engerson were questioned.

Both praised the way the justice of the peace was now operating. The more important cases are now being tried at Appleton, stated police representatives. They also informed the group the justice handled many civil actions.

Members of the American Legion objected to restrictions in the quit claim deed, granted by the county, to property on which the service organization wants to construct a clubhouse. The deed requires the property to be maintained as public park and Legion members feared this meant their clubhouse would have to be open to the public.

The mayor, city attorney, members of the finance committee and members of the Legion building committee decided to meet with the county board to discuss restrictions and see whether they could be more clearly defined.

Other Business

In other action the legislative committee voted to recommend to the council the adoption of the state traffic code as part of the city ordinance.

Kaukauna — About $400 damage resulted when a car driven by Mrs. Anna Ducat Michiels, 49, route 2, Green Bay, collided with a parked car owned by Olin G. Dryer, 220 E. Tenth street, Kaukauna, about 3:40 p.m. Sunday, according to Kaukauna police.

Catholic High Won't Affect AHS Next Fall

Mann Predicts Highest Enrollment Of About 1,900

The new Xavier Catholic High school will have little effect on enrollment at Appleton High school in 1959 and 1960, Supt. of Schools John P. Mann told the board of education Monday night.

The sophomore class will have about 704 students, Mann estimated, making total enrollment figures possibly higher than this year. He estimated enrollment at 1,900—275 more than the school's listed capacity of 1,625.

Even when Xavier High sophomore enrollment estimates are subtracted from the total sophomore census, the difference is larger than present sophomore enrollment, said.

The new Catholic school has 390 students registered now, according to the Rev. A. M. Grill of St. Mary Catholic church, Mann said. There will be 245 freshmen—100 boys and 145 girls, and 145 sophomores—81 boys and 65 girls.

4-Year School
The Catholic school eventually will have 1,000 to 1,200 students, Father Grill reports. Next fall, two grades will be started, with an additional grade added yearly until the 4-year system is in effect.

Appleton school census figures reveal there are 617 14-year-olds in the city and 840 15-year-olds. The first figure is the smallest for any age group in the city Mann said. This means city schools can expect a freshman enrollment of 372 next fall.

Supt. Mann said the high school may require an additional American history teacher. He noted that a different class scheduling procedure may have to be adopted and that a 7-hour day is being contemplated.

NATO Hailed as Military Success

Paris —(AP)—The government chiefs of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany Monday hailed the North Atlantic alliance as a military success.

Each said NATO must expand into non-military fields, and each set a different primary objective.

President Eisenhower — "We need to strengthen the bonds between our people, and strive to broaden and deepen the bases of our common actions and understanding."

French Premier Michel Debre — NATO must do more in the fields of "economic action, social doctrines and political ideologies."

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan — NATO members cannot remain indifferent to the refusal of the 6-nation European common market to expand into a 16-nation free trade area.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer — "We are firmly confident, that, with time and the cooperation of our allies, we shall be able to achieve, in peace and freedom, the reunification of Germany."

Survey Official Alters Idea on School Costs

Admits Error on City's Part Would Change Results on James Madison Figure

The board of education Monday night convinced a representative of the Public Expenditure survey that James Madison Junior High school, actually will normally operate with 834 students.

As a result, the school is considered the lowest-cost junior high school built in the state last year, not the highest, as reported earlier in a survey.

Bernard Sullivan, survey representative, told the board he had used figures submitted by William R. Knuth, director of business affairs, when computing the survey.

600 Students
Knuth had told the survey the school was designed for 600 students and 26 teachers, giving an average of 23 pupils per teacher station.

Later he revised his figures, saying the school had 28 teacher stations, each designed for 30 pupils, giving a total possible enrollment of 834.

Sullivan explained that when computing averages, the survey officials have to assume information submitted by the school systems as correct.

Citizens at Heart
"We survey schools so citizens can ask questions about their schools," he said. "In the long run, the lowest building cost can be as bad as the highest."

Cost per pupil figures and cost per square foot figures for James Madison school are both lowest in the state on the basis of 834 students.

Sullivan said the survey intended to compare schools offering similar services. He admitted he was unable to compare James Madison with similar schools, containing auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria and maintenance shops, because there were no similar schools built in the state last year.

"It wasn't intended to be any criticism of Appleton. It was just a statement of the facts. You had to conclude that some schools got along with less."

He said no other schools had questioned the survey's computation this year, but last year he received three inquiries.

School board president Edward V. Krueger said hereafter it would be in the interest of Appleton "to report accurately and completely. Unless everyone reports on the same basis, these surveys are useless."

Krueger urged Sullivan to include a list of instructions in the next survey.

Feud Over Fate of Sam's Tower

Los Angeles —(AP)—They're feuding now because of Sam Rodilla's remarkable hobby.

"I had it in my mind to do something big and I did," That's the way Sam often explained why he spent 30 years building an aggregation of towers, walls, fountains and pathways—all from scrap material—in the Watts district of Los Angeles.

"The Watts towers" they're called. One is 104 feet high. Art critics and municipal authorities are squabbling over what to do with the towers.

"Inspections show these structures are dangerous and should be torn down," said H. L. Manley, of the department of building and safety.

But Kenneth Ross, general manager of the municipal arts department, says, "this is a unique and distinctive work of art and a masterpiece of primitive sculpture. It must be preserved."

Sam's towers were constructed without preconceived design. He started in 1921 by building a framework of rods. He placed wire mesh around this and then applied his own special mixture of cement.

For decoration there are imprints of hands, tools and corn cobs along with 75,000 sea shells and thousands of pieces of bright crockery of tile. An estimated 7,000 sacks of cement and truckloads of broken bottles went into the project.

Junior Red Cross Request Denied

Junior Red Cross activities will not be permitted during school hours, the board of education ruled Monday night.

The board refused to change its month-old decision, barring all money-collecting agencies from schools during school hours. A request for reconsideration was made by Miss Kathryn Osborn, Appleton Red Cross representative.

Oil Burner Floods, Firemen Answer Call

Kaukauna—Kaukauna firemen were called at 7:15 p.m. Sunday to the William Drusen residence, 103 W. Wisconsin avenue, when an oil burner flooded.

Firemen stood by until excess oil had burned off and reported no damage.

Board Wants to Keep Building

Asks Denial of Firm's Request to Buy Whispering Pines

Appleton Coated Paper company will not be permitted to purchase the Whispering Pines school if the city council approves a board of education decision.

The board will inform City Clerk Elden Broehm that it needs the school for storage purposes for an indefinite period. The company has requested permission to purchase the property, leasing the school system use it for a mutually agreeable period. The school board said it needs the storage space indefinitely and can see no reason to sell the 2-room building. Insurance companies forbid storage of certain supplies in classroom buildings, the board was told.

Reasons Listed
Supt. of Schools John P. Mann outlined reasons why the building will not be used for classroom instruction after this year.

He noted it is on a high-traffic street; it is next to a cemetery; it is in an industrial area; the new Huntley play area;

Wool Contest Advertisement Denied by Board

A request from the National Institute of Wool Growers to advertise a make-it-yourself-with-wool contest in Appleton High school was turned down Monday night by the board of education.

The contest sponsors asked school can be expected to handle the school load; it is expensive to operate and proposed Rankin street expansion would all but eliminate the new Huntley play area.

permission to distribute a brochure to all high school girls informing them of the contest Sept. 3. Supt. Mann said the board has declined many similar requests.

The board approved a request of the Appleton Music Parents association to invite the national children's theater of Dallas to appear in the high school auditorium next fall. Tickets will be sold in classrooms.

Supt. Mann said that the profits are used to send the school music organizations to spring contests.

Board Hits Teachers' Piano Requests for Huntley School

A recommendation that the board of education purchase seven pianos at the second-lowest bid was turned down by the board Monday night.

William R. Knuth, director of business affairs, said specifications were drawn to fit Lester spinet pianos and it was the only bid that met specifications exactly.

The bid totaled $3,990, and was submitted by the Heid Music company. Heid refused to submit bids for Gulbranson spinets. Knuth said, because Gulbranson prices were $30 more than Lester prices.

Other Bid Less
The other bid was submitted by Meyer-Seeger Music company for Cable Nelson spinets for $3,605.

The specifications included tipless keys—keys rounded at the edges to eliminate breakage and injuries, Knuth said.

Board member John Schneider asked why Knuth did not simply tell Heid "that we want seven pianos and let it go at that. Why waste time asking for bids when you know what you want?"

Teachers' Request
Knuth said the school music teachers recommended tipless keys and he was operating under their orders for pianos. He said they also prefer Lester tone.

Board members asked that the music committee appear to explain why it wants tip-

Africa, not the European continent, is the ultimate destination of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Schneider of the anthropology department, who will leave at the end of this week for 15 months in Tanganyika. They will fly to England first, however, for several conferences with African specialists.

Other faculty members to summer abroad are Dr. William A. Chaney of the history department, who will continue to stay in Europe for the coming academic year; Dr. John Alfieri, who will go to Spain for a summer of research; Miss Dorrit Friedlander of the German department, who will visit relatives in Berlin, and the Misses Iva Welch and Helen Proctor of the administrative staff, who plan an auto trip of the British Isles in the company of Miss LaVerne Kniebusch and Miss Adela Klumb of the Appleton public schools.

Cathedral Research
Dr. Chaney leaves June 12 on the Maasdam for 14 months research, centered in English cathedral archives. He will also travel to the continent, as far as Greece and Turkey. He plans to do a number of articles on Anglo-Saxon history before returning to the campus in September, 1960.

Dr. Alfieri will do research on the writer Perez Galdos, chiefly in Madrid. He sails from Montreal on the Saxonia in June 12, and will visit briefly in France before going to Spain. He returns from Liverpool on the Sylvania Aug. 26.

Miss Friedlander will fly June 25 on Lufthansa airlines, from New York to Berlin, where she and her mother will visit relatives.

Included in the party are Mr. and Mrs. Muuss, a grand mother, Lawrence sophomore Linda and her fiancé, Lawrence alumna Mimi Schultz of Sheboygan; and another sister. They will have a Volkswagen bus for touring the continent, which will be highlighted by three weeks with relatives in Niendorf, Germany.

Sue Severson will fly June 11 for a summer with friends in Vienna, during which time she will study music there. In the fall she expects to work in London, and audit courses at the University of London.

Church Work Group
Two students will go with special study and work groups. Advertising Head Lists Projects for Church Women

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP News-Crescent Writer

The church always has depended on women to do much of the work, says Willard A. Pleuthner, New York advertising executive who believes in applying Madison Avenue methods to church work.

Pleuthner, a pioneer of brainstorming as a technique for dredging up advertising ideas, has made religion his avocation for many years, serving as a lay minister and writing books and articles on how to make the church a force in the community.

His latest book combines key chapters from two previous best-sellers, under the title, "More Power for Your Church." The book also contains a number of new chapters, including one on how to use brainstorming to solve church problems.

Women Workers

"No church could get along without the daily support of the women," says Pleuthner. "Women do so much more church work than men that the men in many families should be ashamed. Too many

In Good Taste Suggests Couple Give Two Parties

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married two months ago and at that time received a very handsome wedding present from my fellow-employees. Now that I am settled I would like to entertain them some evening at my house. Some of them are married and I would like to know if it is necessary to include their wives (or husbands) who are strangers to me. We only have a 3-room apartment and cannot accommodate too many at one time. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: It will be better to give two parties so that you can include the husbands and wives, which you really should do.

Bachelor Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding. He would like to give a stag party for the bridegroom-to-be. Since we are of moderate means and this will be quite a strain on us financially, we were wondering if it would be possible to ask the men to bring their own liquor to the party. My husband does not drink but most of the other men do.

Answer: There is no requirement for the best man to give a bachelor dinner which is, in fact, usually given by the bridegroom-to-be. In your husband's case he certainly should not think of it.

Depends on Friend

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to a friend's house for an evening of cards and this hostess usually serves refreshments after the game, is it proper to ask her to serve them before 12 o'clock if the next day happens to be a fast day and you will not be able to eat them later?

Answer: If the hostess is an intimate friend, it will be quite proper to tell her when you arrive that the next day is a fast day for you and that if she is planning to serve her usual refreshments, would she mind serving them before 12 o'clock so that you can eat some.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage license applications have been made at Outagamie County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer's office by Leonard P. Landwehr, Jr., route 2, Seymour, and Violet M. Gehring, route 1, Kaukauna; George Roth, Jr., and Erma A. Tetzlaff, both of route 1, Kaukauna; John E. Bellin, 121 N. Bennett street, and Lois Simmerling, route 2, Menasha; Donald J. Huiting, route 4, Appleton, and Mary L. Horn, 1700 S. Adams street; Leroy A. Dobbertstein, route 1, New London, and Betty J. Jentz, route 2, Appleton; David G. Graff, Somerset, and Nancy A. Nushart, 433 W. Eleventh street, Kaukauna; Philip C. Homes, Green Bay, and Nancy T. Geron, 307 E. Lawrence street; Russell R. Zillges, Jr., 109 E. Third street, and Gale A. Vander Zanden, 217 N. Elm street, both of Kimberly; Franklin D. Gauker, route 1, Fremont, and Shirley A. Drath, 609 N. Meade street; Wayne E. Sager, 221 E. Seventeenth street, and Joan C. Conrad, 116 W. Fifth street, both of Kaukauna.

men have been visible examples of a description given by someone who reworded a familiar hymn to read:

"Take my wife and let her be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee; Help her now Thy will to see. But please, dear Lord, don't count on me."

Pleuthner lists a number of projects for women's clubs in his new book. Among them:

1. Provide your church with a tape recorder, with which the minister can bring church services to shut-ins.

2. Have club members write to motion picture producers encouraging them to make more religious pictures. Form a "motion picture committee" in your club, members of which report regularly on religious films that deserve the support of churchgoers.

3. Instead of giving just a certain percentage of money from your group's treasury for foreign missions, plan to earn or give money for a definite project. For instance: provide a horse and saddle for a missionary in the Philippines. Send automobile snow tires for a traveling missionary in South Dakota.

Lending Library

4. Establish a lending library of religious books for your church.

5. Form a "greeting card committee," charged with sending out birthday cards, get-well cards and congratulatory cards to all members of the congregation.

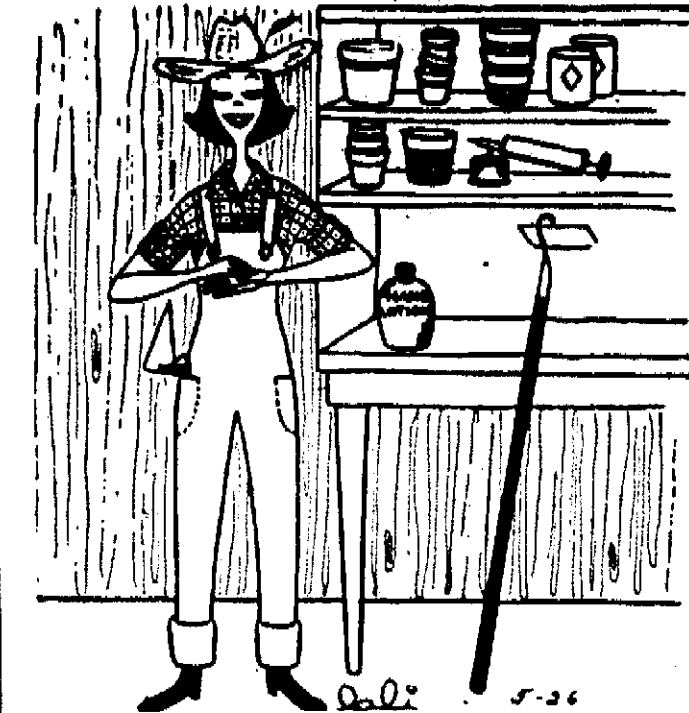

6. Have a bush planting party on the church grounds. Pleuthner insists that brainstorming is one of the best ways to put new life into a church congregation.

"There's no reason why religion should not have the benefit of the newest techniques of big business," he says. "Advertising is good business for religion as well as toothpaste."

American Legion Junior Auxiliary Plans Bus Trip

The American Legion Junior auxiliary is planning a bus trip for junior members, 12 years and older, to Milwaukee on June 23. A picnic for the younger members also is being planned. Parents will be notified of final arrangements for both events.

The group held a mother and daughter event recently at the Ambrosia room of the Elm Tree Bakery. In charge of the dinner were Mrs. Patrick H. Eiser, Mrs. Howard Feabel and Mrs. James Dav-

Why Silicones?

More and more cosmetic products contain silicones. bathe for beauty, tend feet. The trend started with hand hands, teeth and eyes, polish lotions and has spread to lip skin and hair, care for pomades, suntan lotions and baby creams. And a very good thing, too!

Developed in the chemistry lab, silicones increase the effectiveness of a product in many ways. It is no secret they provide a protective barrier on the skin that repels water and grime. This is the primary reason for their use in hand lotions, wherein they from an "invisible glove" not quickly penetrated or washed away.

But silicones possess valuable properties other than repellency to wet and soil. They also are non-greasy and yet spread easily and uniformly. Consequently, they make an ideal additive to suntan lotions. So formulated, suntan lotions discourage sand from clinging and need not be replaced after each dip.

Silicones, moreover, act as a protection against irritants — chap and externally-induced rashes. Hence their inclusion in lip pomades and baby creams.

Q.E.D. Why, silicones!

Team Work Best Key to Successful Graduation

BY ANGELO PATRI

Graduation day in whatever school it may be, is a high day in the life of the graduate. The schools try to make it as impressive as possible — a day that marks achievement worthy of notice.

The occasion always has overtones that parents and teachers feel but which usually quite escape the graduates. They are completely taken up with such important matters as dress, class rings, photographs, the dance after the exercises and their places on the program.

Parents need to realize that these items are highly important to the graduates of secondary and elementary schools. They are likely to cost money so it is wise to plan for them. Consultation with the teachers in charge is necessary if there is to be understanding and co-operation.

Conflict of Dress

The girls' dresses are usually a matter of conflict. Some girls want to splurge; some cannot afford this. The usual way out is for the teacher in charge to show the girls suitable dresses, have the class appoint a committee to make the choice, and all abide by it. Personal touches are always in order, of course, but having the class wear about the same costume smooths many a difficulty.

The next vexatious item is the after-speech: a dance or a dinner. This always starts discussions in which the parents are sure to take part. In my experience, this is best settled by a committee composed of a parent, a teacher and a representative of the class. One thing must be made certain: no liquor is to be served, or is any to be taken to the dance or dinner—by anybody. If this rule is explained and insisted upon, there will be little chance of unpleasant, or worse, happenings.

The graduates should, with the guidance of a teacher, attend to the details of graduation night themselves. This allows them to feel fuller responsibility for all that happens which is good for them. Too, it is more likely to keep things more on ground level.

There is usually some discussion about awarding prizes. Some people think that awards are unwholesome. I do not agree with that. A student who actually earns a medal or a scholarship is entitled to it. Offering it is an incentive to work and to excel. Both ideas are invaluable to the wholesome growth of character. I am in favor of rewards for merit and wish they were more widely used.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 8

Wistful over that pre-baby figure that hasn't quite come back? If you're one of those gals who think planned exercise is a bore, why not make the most of the exercise you get in your daily routine? You can start by watching posture, sitting, standing, walking, working. Tighten your tummy, pull ribs away from hips by stretching whenever you can. (Bedmaking is swell for this.) Amazing how these tricks help tone down a tummy, nip inches off a hip.

Eating delight at the beck and call of your baby's appetite. Gerber's Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners are favored by small fry because they have 3 times as much meat as regular vegetable and meat combinations. That means a lot more protein to help baby grow. The extra meat is subtly blended with vegetables and cereals for wonderfully interesting flavor and a generous assortment of nourishing food values. For mealtime variety, alternate 'em with the new Gerber's Cottage Cheese with Pineapple or meals containing Gerber Meats.

When babies begin to fend for themselves, there's many a fumble 'twixt the attempt and the accomplishment. I know it's a great temptation to help baby do the things he really wants to do himself, but self-reliance is often delayed if baby is helped too much. (Practice makes perfect, they say.) Best way to handle self-rioters: Offer guidance when it looks like baby can't make it... keep a "hands off" policy if he's on the brink of success.

Teethers need extra helpings of loving care to distract them from discomfort. Besides cuddling, though, you can give baby blessed relief with Gerber Teething Biscuits. Smooth-surfaced and extra hard, they provide fine biting satisfaction and good gnawing exercise. Specially tapered for easy grasping. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Designing Woman

New Kind of Door

New homes promise many to fit into decorative plans for surprises that will make interiors look and perform very differently than before. One of them solves time-honored door problems — this brand new door that doesn't fit into the doorway, but is set over it, to overlap. Its design is made possible by special hardware, which gives it the action of a refrigerator door. The effect is simple and clear-cut since there's no framing of the doorway where it's installed, and thus there's no problem of how to treat woodwork

The door swings entirely clear of the opening so extra wide furniture can go through, and it can't become a misfit door problems — this brand looking knob needn't be turned — it simply pulls and the latch on the wall takes care of easy operation. Hardware can include a privacy lock, engaging from the room side only, and an emergency feature which makes it possible to open the door from the outside in case the children lock themselves in. (Surfaset hardware by Stanley.)

Do as the professional decorator does — start the room with a floor plan. You can make one with Elizabeth Hillyer's "Furniture Arrangement Kit" and no trouble at all. The kit provides 126 cut-outs of furniture, floor plan paper, instructions and pointers on good arrangements and it's yours for just 50 cents sent with your request to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper. Please allow approximately 3 weeks for delivery.

Your Problems

Divorced Wife, Nagging Sister, Compete for Man's Children

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I divorced my wife two years ago. She was the town tramp, but I didn't know it until after we were married. I got custody of our two small children. Seven months ago my company transferred me out of the country for a 3-year period. My ex-wife begged me to let her have the children. She promised to behave and showed me on paper how she could manage the support money ($340 a month) and not have to go to work. When she promised to devote full-time to the children, I agreed. I came home two weeks ago on a short vacation. The kids never looked healthier or happier. My ex-wife seems to have straightened around a lot. So far as I'm concerned, she's kept her word.

The problem is this: My sister wants the kids. She says they'd be better off with her and she'll keep them if I give her the support money. She claims a leopard never changes its spots. What do you say?—Boston

DEAR BOSTON: Your ex-wife is not a leopard—she's a person. And people do change. If the children are healthy and happy and their mother has kept her word, leave them with her. It's entirely possible that your ex-wife has settled down for keeps. Tell your sister thanks for the offer, but you are satisfied with things as they stand. (How about a reconciliation?)

DEAR ANN: I'm a heart-broken mother. I know you can't help me but maybe you can explain why such things happen.

I have three daughters and the youngest is 18. Last night she told me she's going to marry a boy she met two months ago. This means I'll have a third bum for a son-in-law.

I raised my girls to know right from wrong. They're good-looking and have beauty-contest figures. Why did they all fall for hoodlums who don't even treat them right? My oldest girl is waiting for her husband who is in jail on a larceny charge. The middle daughter has been home seven times since last May.

She married a loafer who beats her up regularly. She comes home until the bruises heal then goes back to him.

This last daughter plans to marry a boy with a police record and no job. Why do some girls deliberately choose no good men?—H.B.M.

DEAR H.B.M.: Some girls deliberately choose "no good men" because they envision themselves as "uplifters of the fallen". They think they can convert that sow's ear into a silk purse. They don't realize when the bloom is off the romance, any attempt at reforming is considered plain, ordinary nagging.

And then there are the foolish girls who select a fellow because he's good-looking or exciting in the woo-pitching department. They're willing to be kicked around by a handsome guy even though they must frequently view the Adonis through a black eye.

Women who thrive on physical abuse have sick personalities. They feel inferior and worthless. Psychiatrists tell us they unconsciously seek out men who will "punish" them.

I'm afraid I haven't made you feel better, mother, but you wanted to know why some girls make bad choices, and these are the facts.

DEAR ANN: I'm a woman in my late 30's. Dad remarried several weeks ago after having been a widower for 10 years. His new wife is just about my age. She's a lovely person and we're all pleased.

But I'm struck dumb whenever I attempt to introduce her to my friends. To present her as my mother seems utterly ridiculous because we're so nearly the same age. The word "step-mother" is awkward and inappropriate, also.

My husband says since she's married to my father, she's my mother, regardless of her age and that I should introduce her as "mother". Somehow, the word sticks in my throat. Is he right?—The Mumbler

He's not right. This woman isn't your mother, she's your father's wife, and she should be introduced in this way. "May I present my father's wife"—then add her first name.

Boy Bruised by Running Into Car

Kimberly — James Patrick, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patrick, 330 N. Sidney street, suffered bruises to the right leg and arm when he ran into the side of a car near Main street and Kimberly avenue.

Driver of the car was James Errington, 27, 1819 E. Glendale avenue, Appleton. Patrick told police he heard a phone ring at a public booth across the street from a restaurant. He waited for a car to pass and then ran into the street and into the side of the Errington vehicle.

Patrick was treated by a local physician and released.

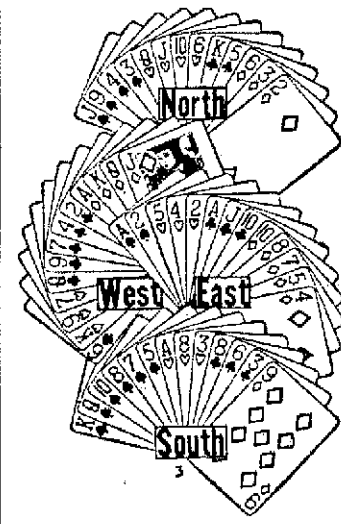

Marie 'The Body' McDonald, 35, and Louis Bass, 36, TV executive, were wed in a surprise ceremony Saturday in Las Vegas, Nev. Miss McDonald, who currently is starring at the Flamingo hotel, said she met Bass two years ago in Manhattan. Her previous marriages were to Vic Orsatti, actor's agent, and shoe tycoon, Harry Karl. It was the first marriage for Bass.

Tomorrow's Bridge—Today Here Is New Two Bid For Midway Hand

BY WILLIAM SEAMON

East-West are vulnerable. South deals

The bidding:
South West North East
2 S D'ble 4 S D'ble
Pass Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of diamonds.
Necessity is the mother of invention in bridge as well as anywhere else. So many hands occurred where the opening bidder had neither a one-bid nor a three-bid that it became essential that a bid be invented to take care of these hands. So, we find the new 2-bid that describes this midway hand.

There are many advantages to this new weak two bid. Let's take them step by step. First of all, we are describing a type of hand that has a good suit plus a defensive trick in the hand. This defensive trick may be in the bid-suit or elsewhere or both. The suit that we bid is a six-suiter and not seven or more. The reason that we do not deal with seven-card suits is that these hands fall into the preemptive bids of three or more.

Secondly, we are describing a hand where, in our opinion, the hand plays best in our suit. For that reason, it is not advisable to have a second four-card suit in the hand. Naturally, partner has a right to override your judgment if his hand warrants it.

Thirdly, we have taken two rounds of bidding away from the opponents and have made it more difficult for them to establish the correct trump suit at an early level. In many cases, we make them guess at a high-level and, if they guess wrong, they are cooked.

Finally, we have told our partner what suit to lead just in case the opponents do buy the final contract. How many times have you wanted to bid a suit as a lead director but you could not because you did not have a bid? Well, now you do have a bid.

Today's hand is an illustration of what the weak two bid can do if used properly. North jumped to four spades because he was certain that the opponents had a game, at least, and he crowded the bidding. East had values, to be sure, but he did not dare bid five diamonds with his anemic suit so he doubled. The contract was set two tricks but note that East and West had a small slam. A

Q. My husband died in July, 1958. We had been married less than one year. Right after our marriage he adopted my 2-year-old son. When my husband died, I applied for benefits but was told that although the child qualified for child's benefits, I could not qualify for mother's because I was not married to my husband for at least one year before his death. I understand that there has been some change in the law since then, and I wonder if I may now be eligible for mother's benefits? I have not remarried.

A. Under a recent change in the social security law you can now qualify for mother's benefits where her husband died in the first year of their marriage, if before his death, he adopted his wife's child by a previous marriage.

Q. What evidence will I need to take with me when I apply to my social security office for these benefits?

A. You should submit at the time of filing your application: 1. Your marriage certificate; 2. Proof of adoption of child; 3. The child's birth certificate.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 403 N. Elm street, Appleton.

English Wife of Indian Prince Leaves Luxury; Works, Finds Happiness

London — The blonde English wife of an Indian prince got bored with all that palace life. She is selling washing machines in London. "Just call me an ordinary girl," said the Maharani of Myseningsh, once the mistress of a 20-room mansion, a big staff of servants and five automobiles.

"Forget the title. I'm Janet Hicks again."

The lovely 23-year-old was demonstrating a washing machine in a West End store. She pushed a shirt into the soap suds before a crowd of Cockney housewives.

No More Luxuries. "My days of luxury may be over, but I've never been happier," said Janet.

Miss Hicks and the maharaja met three years ago in an English hotel. He was a guest, she the receptionist. They were married after a whirlwind courtship. Prince Dulu — as she called him — whisked her off to high life in Calcutta.

"It was just one long round of parties and idleness," said the reformed maharani.

"It got so boring I wanted to take a job. But Dulu wouldn't hear of it."

"Now at least I'm doing something useful and earning my own living."

Average Life. The beauty who gave up a palace now shares a small apartment with a girl friend. Her budget no longer allows her to buy rich clothes. Her hopes of being an actress have faded.

"I've given that up," she said, dropping the dripping shirt into a spin dryer. "I have no more illusions about the stage. It's a vastly overcrowded profession."

"Now I just want to live an ordinary, obscure life."

Miss Hicks is separated from the maharaja, but there has been no divorce.

"In the meantime, I'm just a working girl," she said. She switched off the spin dryer and held up the shirt. The housewives drifted away.

C&NW Seeks Cut In Charges on 2 Mortgage Bonds

Chicago — Chicago and North Western Railway company is seeking to modify its outstanding debt requirements so as to increase the amount of net income available for "property improvements, working capital and possible dividends."

Briefly, the road's proposals call for modifying sinking fund payments on first and second mortgage bonds. Such modifications would either reduce or eliminate payments to those funds contingent upon earnings.

An amendment to the first mortgage bond indenture, a spokesman said, already has been approved by holders of that issue. Without that change, he added, "up to 50 per cent of income otherwise available for property improvements, working capital, possible dividends and other corporate purposes would have to be paid to the special debt retirement sinking fund."

Permission now is being sought from holders of the North Western's second mortgage bonds to alter the sinking fund requirement on that loan. The modification, in effect, would place a ceiling on the required annual debt retirement requirements. Under the present indenture, the amount of bonds to be retired each year is gradually increased.

At present, the road has $49,923,000 of first mortgage bonds and $67,525,000 of second mortgages outstanding.

School Figures Show Report System Resounding Statistical Success

How successful is the progress report grading system in Appleton's grade schools?

From all indications, it's a resounding statistical success. According to James Retson, principal of Edison school and chairman of the grade school report card committee, 99.77 per cent of all parents talked with their children's teachers at the last conference series.

Teachers make special effort to get the conference in explained. "If a parent cannot come during the regularly scheduled hours, we set up special appointments, or we visit the parent in his home."

Anxious to Talk

Retson noted, however, that most parents are anxious to talk with teachers.

He said the program probably has improved in effectiveness since it was instituted six years ago. "Both parents and teachers have become better oriented to the program."

Varied reactions to the program have also been offered by city teachers.

Teachers Questioned

An unsigned questionnaire from 126 grade school teachers revealed that of 73 who had taught in a school with the ABC system 94.6 per cent preferred the progress report system.

Forty-three of the teachers questioned had not taught in a system using any other method of grading. A total of 22 per cent who had taught under another grading system said they preferred it to the progress report system.

Twenty per cent of those who had taught under no system except the progress report system said they would prefer a different grading method.

Some of the comments made by teachers who preferred a different method were:

"Besides individual growth there should be some comparison as a part of the group."

"Many times, I feel, progress reports are written using words many parents do not understand. Also certain words and phrases mean one thing to a parent and another to the teacher writing the report. This makes the report less effective. Parents often read into progress reports what they want to."

"There should be a greater similarity of evaluation in the upper intermediate levels and at the junior high level. A combination of the two types might help to make the child's transfer to junior high somewhat easier."

Like System

The majority of teachers who approved the system made statements similar to the following:

"I think the progress report makes the teacher think more about each child as an individual. It also stops the parents from comparing their children."

The progress report is much more comprehensive and shows the child in all aspects. I also prefer evaluating progress in terms of pupil progress, rather than class status."

"... on the progress reports teachers must report on the child according to his abilities but also according to the standard set for his grade level."

"The progress report gives a clearer picture of the child's performance as compared with his ability."

"It helps me, too, in evaluating this child to see where I need to help the child to progress."

"Children are happier — fewer tensions. Children are interested in progress — not in grades. Teacher knows and understands her children better. Progress reports show pictures of the whole child — not just one phase of his development."

Test Scores Better

Teachers also employ another standard to measure the effectiveness of their teaching. Under the present system of dividing grades homogeneously (using three primary and three intermediate levels), Appleton grade school students have consistently performed better on national standardized tests.

Last fall, intermediate I students (fourth grade) were seven months above national scale; fifth grade, eight months above sixth grade one year and one month above sixth grade.

The group that is now in sixth grade has jumped five months over the margin it group of pupils will take part in the recital. They are 10 years in 1956, the class was Anne Christiansen, Asta Langland, Peggy Neider, Ellen Gullivon, Judy and Paula Travick, Evie Jo Konkol and Barbara and Debby Radant. Mary and Betsy Finch. Jo last three years have also improved annually. In 1956 Appleton sixth grade students ranked four months above the

Grateful Convict Tips Police on Larceny Scheme

Oklahoma City — A grateful convict's tip led officers here to the recovery yesterday of $2,000 in checks donated to the United Fund.

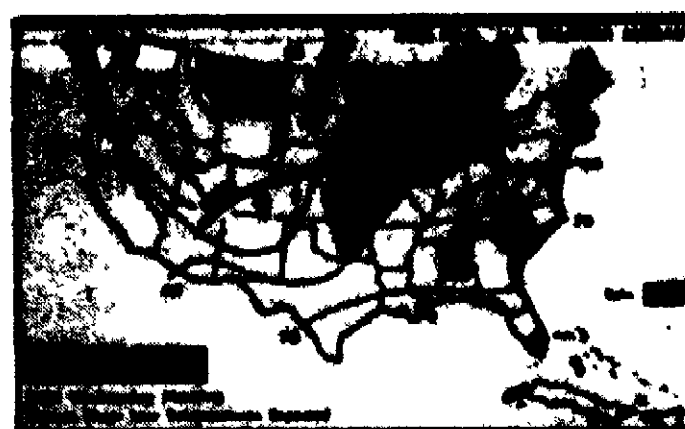

One man was arrested on a city larceny complaint. Officers said he told them he had found another man to alter the stolen checks.

But before he could police explained, the would-be rewrite man was convicted and sent to the state prison for burglary.

Once there, the convict's wife became desolate and was helped by a United Fund agency. It was too much for the convict.

"Because he was grateful," said Det. Dan Cochran, "the prisoner tipped us off on the check altering scheme."

Officers quoted the man as saying he had rifled envelopes for the checks while employed to pick up mail during the United Fund campaign last fall.

It will be warmer along the east coast tonight and continue warm in the Gulf region. Cooler weather is expected in the upper Mississippi valley. Widely scattered shower activity is likely.

Ford Grant Explained

City Funds Required To Support UW Study

If the Appleton school system participates in a Ford Foundation - sponsored school improvement program, the city will be expected to budget appropriate amounts, Prof. John Guy Fowles, of the University of Wisconsin, has told Supt. Mann in a letter.

The university would like to conduct the study in 10 cities, Fowles said. They are Appleton, Hales Corners, Janesville, LaCrosse, Madison, Manitowish, Racine, Sun Prairie, Wausau and West Bend.

Fowles did not estimate how much it would cost each school system to participate. "It is recognized that it may be difficult for the participating schools to budget anything other than modest sums for the project this year."

4-Year Study

"On the other hand, it seems only reasonable that local school systems be not only willing but eager to budget given sums for experimentation. Consequently, it is assumed a local school system which proposes to participate in the project will make appropriate budgetary provision for such membership during the next 4-year period," he said.

A month - long workshop will be held this summer in Madison for officials of participating systems. The university will provide scholarships of $200 a person for a group of up to 10 staff members who attend. Four university credits would be given.

The university would play a minor role in the program, he said. "It seems clear that a program leading to the improvement of the local system must rest primarily in the desire of the local system."

"Because of a substantial appropriation from the Ford Foundation, it is possible for the university during the next five years to provide competent consultants in the basic disciplines, such as English, science, mathematics, social studies, foreign languages, the fine arts and the applied arts at no cost to the local system," he said.

Secretarial assistance and equipment also will be provided by the foundation, Fowles said.

Fowles said some of the more pressing areas for possible experimentation are organization and operation of teaching teams, more effective curricula toward the maximum achievement of every boy and girl in terms of his capacity, particular arrangements for gifted children, development of a more effective pattern for guidance services, and more effective supervisory and administrative services.

Out of these broad considerations, some of the more specific possibilities for study are improved arrangements toward achievement of high-er skill in writing, more emphasis on the appreciative aspects of the arts, with particular reference to music, and broader use of audio-visual devices and materials," he said.

Fowles will appear later at a school board meeting to outline his requests, Mann said.

Board Adds $11,300 to School Budget

Money to Come From State Aid $19,000 Windfall

A total of $11,300 was added to the Appleton school budget by the board of education Monday night. The money is expected to come from an additional state appropriation of $19,000 received because attendance allotment figures were changed late last fall.

The board paid so-called urgent requests amounting to $18,955 submitted by William Knuth, director of business affairs. The board earlier approved additional requests of $5,000.

The additional expenditures are:

- Seasonal help to improve the Madison school site, $1,000
- Senior High Driveway
- Blacktopping and filling under the senior high driveway, $3,400. The driveway has sunk as much as eight inches in spots, Knuth reported.
- Placing the name Jackson school in aluminum letters on Jackson school, $100
- Replacing mortar in stone-work on Morgan school, $1,000
- Water damage has occurred at Morgan because tuck-pointing needs repair, Knuth said.
- Building a backstop addition at Franklin school, $750
- Complaints from residents have become more frequent, Knuth said, and children run into the street to retrieve balls.
- Blacktopping a 3-foot strip on the east and south sides of Foster school, $100. The strip is used as a walkway.
- Purchasing a light-weight FWD dump truck for school purposes, $2,200 added to the present allocation of $900. Knuth said the truck is needed for maintenance and outside work.

Reference books for Appleton High school English department, $2,000. Each year, students each have purchased one book which was placed on the shelves for general use. They kept the books at the end of the year.- Repairing locks on senior high lockers, $750. This item is budgeted annually, Knuth said, but was inadvertently omitted from budget requests.

County YGOP Backs Catlin Labor Statute

A resolution asking the state senate to uphold the Catlin labor act was passed unanimously by the Outagamie county Young Republican organization Monday night.

Eight members attended the session.

The Catlin law forbids the use of union funds to back political candidates, the resolution states.

In other resolutions the YGOP

- Opposed a state tax on retail chain stores.
- Opposed a state withholding tax.
- Went on record as regretting the death of John Foster Dulles, former secretary of state.

Van Dyke was arrested by the county patrol Saturday on county trunk Q near the Indian crossing. Police found his car parked across the highway with Van Dyke inside. A county patrolman said Van Dyke offered him money to forget about the incident.

The sheriff was authorized to appear as Van Dyke's agent and enter a guilty plea.

Egner was arrested Sunday evening in the village of Iowa after the county patrol noticed his erratic driving. He pleaded guilty.

Free World Saddened by Dulles' Death

Liberty Statesman
Who Filled Ambition
Is Being Praised

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Geneva — The air waves of Europe have been filled with tributes to John Foster Dulles.

Word of praise was broadcast everywhere on Sunday as the sad news of the death of the former secretary of state became known.

The contrast between what is being said now and what was said a year or so ago is striking. Some how the free world came to appreciate Dulles only when it was apparent that, being stricken with a fatal cancer, he would be lost to the councils of the western governments.

Listening to the eloquent eulogy by Selwyn Lloyd, the British foreign minister, as it came over the British Broadcasting company on Sunday afternoon, this correspondent felt that no more fitting appraisal could have been uttered in government circles anywhere. For, as Lloyd put it, there was no "inflexibility" about Dulles except on matters of principle. He had the courage to stick to moral principle even in the face of the bitterest criticism.

The position of Dulles in history is being fixed early. He was suddenly removed from the scenes of his greatest labors at a time of crisis. His statesmanship began to be appreciated in the highest terms when it was realized that he would no longer be available to guide the free world.

He had a faith that the West could win the long battle with the communists only by sticking to principle and refusing to compromise on fundamentals. His critics thought he was unrealistic and that he should accept the Soviet position as one not likely ever to change.

Showing Firmness

Dulles realized that Americans often were too impatient and sometimes were ready to appease on the false theory that this would be of benefit in the end and bring peace. He felt just the opposite—that appeasement or surrender at the time would mean dangerous complications later on and that maybe we would not have been plunged into two world wars if firmness, instead of vacillating diplomacy, had been manifested early enough by the western allies.

Dulles frequently was represented as a believer in a 1-man department because he handled so many problems personally. But his legacy is the great team in the department of state today.

The picture of Dulles that unfriendly critics painted was that of a man who unduly influenced Eisenhower. This was not true. Dulles always functioned as an adviser, pointing out the different courses of action and leaving it to the president to make the decision.

Respect Grew

It was this quality of deference rather than any kind of domination which endeared Dulles to the president. In fact, Eisenhower's respect and admiration for Dulles constantly grew. A deep affection developed between the two men. When Eisenhower learned that there was no hope of a recovery and that Dulles had himself recognized the facts and submitted his resignation, the grief of the president was noticeable.

Hesitation in announcing the immediate appointment of a successor was due to the feeling that no news should for a day or two at least be permitted to overshadow the story of the departing statesman from the government he had served so long and so faithfully.

Eisenhower had tears in his eyes when he announced Dulles' resignation. To press secretary Hagerty, the president said: "It's like losing a brother."

It is a splendid thing that Dulles, lying on his hospital bed these last few weeks, lived to see his principles vindicated in the world-wide acclaim given him.

Ambition Achieved

Dulles' ambition was to serve in the state department where his grandfather, John W. Foster, had been secretary of state in the Republican administration of President Benjamin Harrison, and where his uncle, Robert Lansing, had served as secretary of state to President Woodrow Wilson, Democrat.

The life of Dulles was enveloped in diplomacy and foreign relations from the days he graduated from Princeton university in 1908.

John Foster Dulles is gone. A great statesman has departed. It is important now that his principles and the doctrines he preached shall not be forsaken by his own government. He gave unstintingly and unselfishly all his ability, his strength and his energy to the preservation of freedom for the governments of the world.

England, U. S. Facing D-Day Over Germany

Geneva Talks Remind Writer of June, 1944, When Allies Invaded France Successfully

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE German problem. In its way Washington — Exactly 15 it is perhaps ever harder to years ago in this Maytime resolve than the other one 15 season we and the British years ago.

White were marshal. This time the allies are not ing in England bound in the comradeship of for history's hot war. They are dispersed most terrible by the diplomacy of cold war, and fateful as. There are differences between a ault, the American view and the cross - e h a n - British view at Geneva. The nel invasion British are more keen for a against the settlement with the Russians German occu- than we are.

For the first time in many into real bitterness there is a weary year it was possible only one gainer, the Soviet to have faith that the last Union. The legitimate differ- phase of a great war was at ences between us cannot be hand. upon them is gravely to trou- ble waters already troubled enough.

England, a decade and a half ago, was a meeting place in time for an unforgettable paradox: Both hope and death were in the air over Western Europe.

Those who were not there for D-day have a far rosier no- tion of the success that fol- lowed than was justified by the facts.

Narrow Margins But it was a success only by the most narrow margins. Meteorologists had decided: that the early days of June would be, for weather and tide, the most nearly suitable. In truth, the weather sud- denly turned nasty. The big jump across the channel had to be postponed from the original date, June 5, to June 6. It went forward then only be- cause the vast machine had been cranked up and it could not be delayed. Our lodg- ments on the French beaches were soon held by the thin- nest forces—with the thinnest supplies because much of what we needed was going to the bottom of the channel.

When the weather broke in our favor it broke not a mo- ment too soon. This cor- respondent asked a senior in- telligence officer what would have happened if we had had one more bad weather day. "Disaster," he said. The one irreplaceable strength we had then was an unshakeable American-British unity. Without it, we should have lost the whole invasion, and possibly the whole war.

Now, in another springtime, both hope and danger are again in the air over Western Europe. Again the same two allegiances and the post fir- allies confront, in the Geneva ing squad will fire the sa- conference, another desperate lute.

Legion Post Plans Sherwood Ceremonies Sherwood — The Thomas E. Kees American Legion post will conduct Memorial day ceremonies starting with a parade from the bank cor- ner to Sacred Heart ceme- tery at 9 30 a. m. 11 to Leave Sacred Heart Grade School

Sherwood — Sacred Heart Catholic school will graduate 11 eighth graders in exercises Sunday morning conducted by the Rev. Henry J. Schmitt. The class chose blue and white as its colors. Our Lady of Fatima, as its patron, white carnations as its flower and "Let Us Build Bridges Not Walls" as its motto.

Boat Speeding Ordinance to Be Enforced

Council to Press Compliance; Cite Some Complaints

Menasha — Recent complaints of boaters operating their craft too fast or recklessly within the Menasha city limits have caused the city council to warn that an ordinance provides for prosecution of offenders.

Signs telling of the ordinance and the 6 m.p.h. speed limit within city boundaries will be put up soon under the direction of City Engineer M. J. Noth.

Most recent example of careless boat operation occurred over the weekend, when a boater approached the shore in Jefferson park and splashed a woman and child there.

Water skiing, unless done at less than 6 p.p.h., is prohibited by the ordinance in city waters.

The council decided to press for enforcement of the ordinance at a committee of the whole meeting Monday night.

Other alleged violations have been noted in the government canal and near the Racine street bridge.

Offenses committed in city controlled waters are under jurisdiction of the police department. The coast guard enforces federal boating laws outside of that area.

School Bus, Boiler Insurance Increased

Board to Urge Retention of Present Incentive Formula on 2 Programs

Menasha — Increased insurance coverage for school buses, boiler explosions and public liability was approved Monday by the board of education.

In other actions, the board accepted a bid for painting Nicolet school, approved buying a $70 lawn mower, decided to meet only once a month for the summer and went on record favoring the present system of state aids for special education and speech correction classes.

Com William Snyder, who has been making a study of insurance needs of the local system, recommended hiking school bus coverage top limits from $200,000 to $1,000,000, at a total extra cost of $6.92 a year. Property damage insurance will be increased from $10,000 to $100,000 at an extra total cost of $4. The board concurred with his recommendations. Blank agency J. Luchsinger this morning will write the added coverage.

On boiler insurance, Snyder's advice to raise the coverage in the high school building to $500,000 at a cost of $175 more for three years.

Center Location
Snyder pointed out the need for more coverage in the high school building, since the boiler is located toward the center of the building, valued at about $2.5 million.

Boiler damage coverage on the other buildings — at $150,000 each — is judged adequate since the boilers are located at the ends of their buildings, not at the center as in the high school.

Top limits on public liability insurance were raised from $25,000 to $100,000 at a three-year cost of $80.72. The boiler policies will be secured from Strauss - Zahn company, Milwaukee.

Builder's risk insurance on the new Sixth street elementary school in amount of $420,742 at a premium of $370 will be taken from Blank agency. The general contractor, Turn to Page 2, Col. 1

Electronics of Future 'Moons' as Space Post Offices Foretold by C. of C. Dinner Speaker

Menasha — Artificial moons which will serve as orbital post offices for space mail delivery between the United States and Europe, 20-cent phone calls to anywhere in the world and Chicago to Singapore passenger travel in an hour.

Upwards of 250 diners at the 19th annual dinner meeting of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce at the Elks club Monday night heard those forecasts of the new electronic age by Martin F. Bennett, vice president for distribution of Radio Corporation of America.

Last his listeners think the electronic devices of the future were in the realm of fantasy, he pointed out that some of them already exist both in research and actual practice.

He cited the satellite which transmitted upon command President Eisenhower's Christmas message as it encircled the globe and of the electronic controls that trigger the satellites and record data from outer space.

The implications of electronics affect the entire fabric of our civilization — social, political, military and economic — and to this has been added the limitless dimension of space.

Fastest Growing Industry
"What distinguishes electronics perhaps, from many other industries is that the products are coming so fast there barely is time to exploit the ones at hand before new and superior developments come crowding in," Bennett said as he remarked that research scientists often say, "If it works, it's obsolete."

Electronics has risen from virtually no place at the end of World War II to the fifth largest industry in the United States.

Television, one of the electronics age developments has created an entirely new concept in home entertainment and the TV screen of the future will be a flat screen on the wall which will be a decorative painting when not in use.

Instead of bulky fixtures and cumbersome cords a thin panel of enameled metal about the size of a butter plate built right into the wall or ceiling or even the drapery, will light the homes by the local Rotary club.

Board OK's
Increases in Insurance

Charles Gambaky, Menasha, will reimburse about 17 per cent of this charge. The valuation includes the new completed structure and its equipment.

Snyder said this insurance may not be necessary on the Butte des Morts school, to undergo conversion this year, since its actual value is not likely to change very much.

The bid of Elmer Kransusch, Appleton, to paint the wood exterior trim of Nicolet school with two coats and putty and caulk as necessary was accepted. Bid price was $684, lowest of three offers on the job, for which $530 was budgeted.

During June, July and August, the board will meet only the second Mondays at 7 p.m. The rest of the year, the board meets both second and fourth Mondays.

A letter from the board will be sent to the joint senate-assembly conference committee urging retention of the present state aid formula for special education and speech correction courses.

The board heard comments in a letter from State Supt. of Public Instruction George Watson that the budget-makers were planning to reduce these aids in an effort to cut the new budget. Under the present system, the aids serve as an incentive to local boards of education to adopt the program, by supplying about 75 per cent of the programs' costs. The budget-makers plan to cut this formula to 60 per cent.

Menasha spends about $12,000 each year for these two programs, receiving about $9,000 from the state. If the formula is cut, the local school system will have to bear about $1,000 more cost than at present.

"Cheaper to Run"

Watson's letter contained this statement, in urging local boards of education to write the conference committee to keep the aid formula where it is: "It is my belief there is no economy in shifting costs to locally, real estate - supported budgets."

Permission was granted the city to use the play area at Jefferson school for parking of cars May 30. A picnic is being held in adjacent Jefferson park, Chief of Police Peter P. Clark said in his request.

Discussion of the hot lunch program was laid over until next month. Com. John Fitzpatrick said he had heard some complaints.

Police Give Picnic

Neenah — Police entertained 100 school safety patrol youngsters at a picnic Monday afternoon at the Riverside park pavilion, serving them beans, hot dogs, potato salad and watermelons.

self to the actual paper production process in the plant.

RCA engineers have been able to compress entire assemblies of transistors, wiring and other elements into complete electronic packages no bigger than a cough drop. Already in use are radio circuits no larger than a lump of sugar and a working model of a radio receiver the size of a cigarette lighter.

Electronics will play a major role in the military offense of the country and in its weapons and in the weather, predicting. "The electronic 'brain' that guides a missile may one day operate an entire factory," Bennett forecast.

"It is conceivable that within the lifetime of many of you here, it will be possible to take off from Chicago and arrive in Singapore in less than an hour. The business executive of the future may dictate his inter-office memorandums and personal letters directly to an electronic typewriter that will produce them in response to his voice.

"No matter where he may be — in conference, at lunch or even in transcontinental flight, he will be able to carry on a conversation with his associates through the use of an instrument about the size of a pack of cigarettes. Policemen in New York, in effect, have become walking radio stations," the speaker mentioned.

He urged the businessmen to be alert to the changes and prepared to take swift advantage of the opportunities they offer. "The great prerequisite of electronics is to understand what it is and what it is capable of accomplishing for you and society," he concluded.

coming from those states specifically for the banquet.

Otto Lieber, Jr., first president, recalled the formation of the chamber when it was the Neenah Merchants association and listed those who were active in getting it started and the problems encountered in the early days. Later, the group expanded to include Menasha and became the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce.

Lieber listed as the other first officers Gus Kalfahs as first vice president, E. L. Rickard as second vice president, Elmer Radtke as secretary and Adolph Hennig as treasurer.

Accomplishments

Two accomplishments during Klein's administration, Stilp reported, were the work on behalf of the University of Wisconsin extension center, in which he said Klein and Ralph McCrone expended considerable effort, and the formation of the congressional action committee program.

Those at the dinner were given copies of the new Chamber of Commerce magazine, a printed issue replacing the former duplicated type issue. The initial issue lists the 300 members of the chamber and the chamber's committees as well as reviewing chamber activities.

Entertainment during the program was provided by the Kimberlairens, a "Sweet Adelines" chorus. John Klein presided at the dinner and Paul Dodge as program and dining chairman introduced the speaker.

John's Super Market, 838 Main Street, Neenah, has just installed new automatic change-dispensers to be used in conjunction with change-computing cash registers. Two change-dispensers, first to be installed in the Twin Cities, will be an important addition to John's policy of faster and more complete service to customers. This installation is another step in keeping with modern merchandising methods. "These change-dispensers will greatly increase the speed of the check-out operation, particularly at peak periods," said owner John Freund. "With the conventional method of making change, the change is counted two or usually three times — twice by the cashier and frequently by the customer as well. The automatic change-dispenser now does this automatically," John continued. "The dispensers, in addition to giving better service to our customers, will mean less fatigue for our checkers, since they will be relieved of the responsibility of counting coins," he concluded. The change-dispenser, manufactured by The National Cash Register Company, is electrically connected to a National change-computing cash register. After adding the items of the sale, the checker records the money tendered by the customer. The register computes the correct amount of change due and then causes the dispenser to release automatically the proper coins to the customer. All the checker must do is give the customer the amount of currency shown on the cash register indication if currency is a part of the change.

Here Are Delicious Beverages for Memorial Day and other summer outings! Shown above is the line-up of tasty Twin City Beverages, now available at area food stores, groceries and beer depots. Twelve delicious flavors are available in the full quart sizes. Twelve flavors are also available in handy 7-ounce bottles. Seven flavors are available in the 12-ounce "king-size" bottles. The 7 and 12-ounce bottles are featured in 6-pack containers. Products of the Twin City Bottling Co., Menasha, Twin City Beverages compliment parties with their tangy goodness and the company suggests area people stock up on the Twin City beverages that are perfect mixes for all drinks.

Rockets Face Oshkosh High In Final Duel

Indians Chalk Up 7-1 Record; Lone Loss to Menasha

Neenah — Neenah will close its dual tennis season with a match here against Oshkosh Wednesday afternoon. The Rockets currently have a 12-1 mark.

Oshkosh has been beaten only by Menasha (4-3) in dual competition and boasts wins over Fond du Lac Springs, Fond du Lac (two), Beaver Dam, Sheboygan North, Sheboygan Central and Ripon.

The Indians placed second in the Fox River Valley conference meet last weekend and had the singles champion in their prized sophomore, "Chuck" Bleckinger.

Bleckinger will meet Dick Wilson at the No. 1 spot and the No. 2 match puts the Rockets' Jack Ankerson against Ken Krohn, a steady performer but not in Bleckinger's class.

The Rockets blanked Oshkosh 7-0 in last year's meeting. Wilson downed Krohn at No. 2 while other wins went to Ed Meyer, Dave Reiersen, Ankerson and Paul Valente in singles and Meyer - Ankerson and Wilson - Reiersen in doubles.

In previous matches against FVC conference entries the Rockets defeated Fond du Lac and lost to Manitowish. The Rockets will be at Oshkosh Friday for the sectional tournament.

School Board Likes Red Star Location

Says District Should Build New School Close to Present Site Near City

A new Red Star school in the town of Harrison, Calumet county, should be built on or near its present site, the Appleton Board of Education told a school district building committee Monday night.

The committee asked the board how a new building would fit in Appleton's long-range school plan. Supt. of Schools John P. Mann said building a new school on the present site would create a diamond-shaped school system for the south side of Appleton. At the north would be McKinley school; at the east, a proposed new grade school on the Schaefer property; at the west, Foster school and a proposed new school for which no property has been purchased. He said the city would prefer this arrangement.

Land Tied Up Committee members explained it might be difficult to obtain the three or four additional acres required for a 40-year-old red brick school is on one acre.

Land to the west of the building is tied up in an estate, committee chairman Robert Wright said. Land to the north and east of the school is owned by Red Star school board director Reuben Stadler, who reportedly is asking $3,500 an acre and does not want to sell.

The committee asked if the city would approve purchasing property near the present building and selling the acre as a private lot. They are considering asking the district to purchase lots on the proposed Carpenter street extension.

Buy Now, Sell Later State officials told the district officials they should contemplate buying land and later selling any unceded property.

One property owner has offered the Green Bay diocese 10 acres of land on the Carpenter extension if it is to be used for school purposes, Wright told the school board.

The district is bounded by Appleton on the north; by Oneida street on the west; by congregation cleaned the in the lake on the south; by the school and school district and house and men took care of Fire Lane 3 on the east. Residents agree that it will some screens and did minor re-

Dulles' Main Ambition in Life Was to be Secretary of State

BY ED CREAGH

Washington—Some boys want to be firemen when they grow up. Some want to be atomic scientists.

John Foster Dulles, after a brief flirtation with the idea of becoming a locomotive engineer, fixed his eyes firmly on the job of secretary of state. He made it at the age of 64 and loved every minute of it — until fatal illness struck him down.

Nothing short of his imminent death discouraged Dulles.

He was in agonizing pain on his last trip to Europe. But he kept going, usually with the familiar smile on his lips, sometimes with a lawyer's hard-bargaining glint in his eyes, endlessly seeking a shield against the horror of nuclear war.

It will be for history to say how successful his efforts were. But Dulles' warm friend, President Eisenhower, who relied wholeheartedly on his advice, has noted time and again that no American soldier died in combat since the Korean war was stopped in 1953.

Dulles never lacked critics. He brought lightning down on his head from Moscow to Oshkosh, even before he took office, by threatening "massive retaliation" if the communists started a limited war.

Much Criticized

Again he was criticized for making known through a Life magazine article that this country had more than once been steered to the brink of war — a risk he felt had to be taken if communist aggression was to be kept in check.

This is the second of three articles on John Foster Dulles by an Associated Press writer who knew him as a lawyer, a senator, a campaigner, and finally as the chief architect of American foreign policy in perhaps the most crucial period of world history.

Dulles did not increase his popularity by presenting the Egyptian prime minister, now President Gamal Abdel Nasser, with a set of pistols — a gesture interpreted by Britishers, in particular, as a symbolic invitation for Nasser to start shooting.

And yet when Dulles became ill, and the seriousness of his condition was widely suspected, his prestige soared throughout the western world — and not for sentimental reasons only. He had, after all, more experience in dealing with the Russians than most other western leaders. If he was stubborn and unyielding, at least he had courage and know-how. And he had the ear of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

No president in memory has relied as heavily on a secretary of state as Eisenhower relied on Dulles. Dulles didn't have to sell his policies to Eisenhower. The president accepted them, and gratefully, on faith. He never passed up an opportunity to praise Dulles. He paid regular visits to the secretary when Dulles lay dying.

And there were tears in the president's eyes when he called an extraordinary news conference at Augusta, Ga., only a few weeks ago to announce that Dulles had decided the burden of illness was too great for him to continue in office.

Prevent Fights

Actually, Dulles spent the greater part of his life trying to prevent fights—in the sense of warfare. But he made it a steadfast principle that this country would fight if necessary to preserve justice and honor.

He was a member of the U. S. delegation to the Versailles peace conference after World War I. Later he served as chairman of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He helped organize the United Nations at San Francisco in 1945, and was an American delegate before he became secretary of state.

Dulles graduated at the head of his class from Princeton in 1908 and repeated the feat at Washington's George Washington law school—sanding in an LL.D. degree from the Sorbonne university in Paris.

By the time he was 31 Dulles was a full partner in the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell. In time he became senior partner, and once offered a job to Republican political power Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey turned it down but later returned the compliment. It was through his friendship with Dewey that Dulles became Eisenhower's secretary of state.

Hit, Run Driver Fined at 'Wega

Weyauwega — Hans S. Kalka, route 3, Waupaca, was fined $31.20 by Justice of the Peace Clarence Linn for hit and run driving. He was arrested by Police Chief Kenneth Thompson after Kalka's car struck a parked car on Mill street.

LeRoy L. Zingler, route 1, Marion, was fined $16.20 for speeding and Robert Lee Winters, route 2, Fremont, was fined $20 for driving a motor scooter with an expired license plate.

Remained Folksy

Dulles, like Eisenhower, remained folksy. With his dark suits and his stoop-shoulder, walk he could have passed for a country lawyer. But like many a country lawyer he had a sharp, subtle mind—seasoned and enriched by years of practice in international law.

This probably accounted for the fact that—to be blunt—not everybody trusted Dulles. He had been known to give reporters background information, with the understanding they could publish it, and deny the next day that he had even talked with them.

Dulles, a minister's son and an outstanding Presbyterian layman, wouldn't consciously lie. What he probably had in mind was that he hadn't seen the newsmen "officially" and so he hadn't seen them at all.

Cuban Rebel Subject of Library Book

Fidel Castro, the Cuban rebel who zoomed into national prominence in Latin-American affairs by taking over a country the hard way, is the subject of a study by a Chicago Tribune correspondent, Jules Dubois.

"Fidel Castro" tells the story of the revolution and gives a close-up of the bearded leader who dominated it. Dubois followed the revolution closely and was in Cuba much of the time, gathering notes and getting a perceptive view of what makes a rebel tick.

Among other non-fiction books on display at the public library this week is "Points of View" by W. Somerset Maugham. The book, which Maugham has announced is the last one he will publish, contains five literary essays, ranging from Goethe to Dr. Tiltottson to writers of journals and short stories.

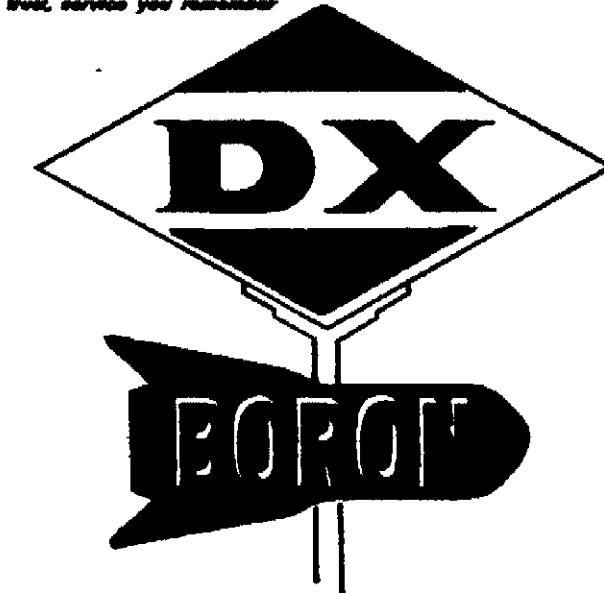

"Gardening for Gourmets," by Ruth A. Matson, combines gardening techniques with 50 recipes based on garden produce.

Another non-fiction work, "The Executive at Work" by Fred DeArmond, is an aid for the "rising young manager."

The author states the requirements for a successful executive career—human relations, decision-making, organization, selling ideas and other handy aids.

New novels include "Comrades of the Morning" by Pearl S. Buck, "Eight Days" by Gabriel Fielding, and "The Pledge" by Friedrich Duerrenmatt.

More Than Meets Eye In Teen Movie Poll

Some Part of Films' Popularity Goes to Balcony Buss, Jingo Says

A recent magazine poll says 83 per cent of the nation's teenagers would rather go out to a movie than stay at home in front of the watchbox.

Which apparently proves that even modern electronics cannot entice youth to reinstall the parlor as the place for young romance.

Hold, there, young fellow. Don't check this with Dad. He started the shift to the balcony buss. Try Grampa, the last of the parlor practitioners.

And, since we've sort of sneaked into the subject of movies, let's take a look at as much news about them as we have at hand.

Dick Clark, the idol and trend-setter of young America, will have one film ready for release this year and another in 1960. Both will be used as vehicles to introduce new talent. That means rock-roller, mister.

Filming of "Once More, With Feeling," got underway last month in Paris. It stars Yul Brynner and Kay Kendall, with Gregory Rafferty in a top featured role.

The screen play's by the same man who wrote the Broadway comedy hit, Harry Kurnitz.

You've undoubtedly read in the news columns that Elizabeth Taylor is making the movie version of Tennessee Williams' hit stage play, "Suddenly, Last Summer."

Montgomery Clift is her co-star.

The signing of the red-haired Irish beauty, Maureen O'Hara, has ended the search for a complete cast for "Our Man in Havana," the Graham Greene novel.

Others in the cast are Alec Guinness, Burl Ives, Ernie Kovacs, Noel Coward, Ralph Richardson and Jo Morrow.

Raoul Levy, leading French producer, has signed to release his films in the United States exclusively through Columbia Pictures. Strictly a who-he item until you read the fine print wherein it says Brigitte Bardot will star in a number of his productions in the new arrangement.

The Robert Wagner chorale will provide vocal backgrounds for William Goetz's upcoming biography of Franz Liszt, "A Magic Flame."

English star Dick Bogarde will play Liszt. Location shooting started in Munich May 4.

Negotiations are underway to have Sidney Poitier and Claudia McNeil repeat their starring roles in the motion picture adaptation of Broadway's dramatic hit, "A Raisin in the Sun."

David Susskind, of TV fame, and Philip Rose are producing the film.

The Three Stooges, who made several hundred shorts for the movies over the last 25 years, will make their feature film debut in "Have Rocket, Will Travel." They went before color cameras May 18. They'll play handy-men at a missile plant. This is clearly a television-sponsored comeback.

Speaking of comebacks—and probably somewhat due to television, too—Ronald Reagan will be one of the five stars of "Flight from Ashiya," movie about air force rescue missions in Japan.

Mike Connolly, Hollywood columnist, says Diane Varsi, who founced from Hollywood recently "never to return again," is angling to play the girl friend in "Splendor in the Grass."

It's about a millionaire's son whose high school classmates snub him.

Paramount apparently believes the new popularity of Gene Barry as a television star will make "Red Garters," in which he appeared, more profitable in the release than it was the first time through the theaters, because they have it out again on tour.

Loker, Jansen Defend Titles, Peril State Records Saturday

AHS and Kimberly Aces Will Climax Brilliant Campaign

By JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Don Loker and Darrell Jansen are good bets to receive top billing Saturday in the State Class A and B track meets, respectively.

Loker, Appleton High's peerless miler, will appear in the "A" meet — for schools of 700 or more students — in Milwaukee North stadium.

Jansen, Kimberly's inimitable hurdler will perform in the "B" meet at Hartford.

Before Ink Dries
Jansen and Loker, who have been setting new standards almost before the record-book ink dries on their latest entries, have these things in common:

1. They are the Fox Cities area's only defending state champions.
2. Both will be favored to repeat their 1958 successes.
3. Both own school, conference and sectional records in their specialties.
4. Both pose genuine threats to all-time state prep records.

Loker, a senior, will be taking aim at the state record for the last time. The premier Wisconsin high school mark is 4 minutes, 27.2 seconds set by Wauwatosa's Ernie Bastian in 1934. Loker's career best — 4:29 — came only 11 days ago.

Jansen, only a junior, has another big year left. The all-time state high hurdles mark (regardless of class) is 14.1 (by Madison Central's Al Dockery in 1947). Jansen has whirled to a 14.3 this year.

Has Done 20-Flat
The 180-yard low hurdle standard is 19.6 (the event is only about three years old, having replaced the 200-yard distance). Jansen has done a roaring 20-flat in a practice meet on the AHS track.

Called by Gil Frank "the greatest track man I've ever coached," (and possibly the greatest in Kimberly history), Jansen has been setting a mad pace since his freshman year. Darrell has won the Mid-Eastern conference high- and low-hurdles crowns three straight times — and has another year to go.

As a freshman, Jansen placed third in the state meet high hurdles. As a soph, he won the state title in both

Bluejays Gain Third Place

Replace Topeka After 8-1 Victory Over Burlington

By The Associated Press

The Three I league is coming apart in the middle.

League-leading Lincoln, second place Des Moines and third place Green Bay all won Monday night. There are 34 games between the first and second division.

Lincoln, which had its 12-game streak stopped Sunday, came back against Topeka to win, 5-0, dropping the Reds to fourth place. Des Moines, once ahead by 10-1, had some sweating to do before beating Sioux City, 12-11.

Replaces Topeka
Green Bay replaced Topeka in third place by trimming Burlington, 8-1. In the fourth game, Fox Cities handed Cedar Rapids its seventh loss in the last eight games, 3-2.

Dick Kimball had a 7-hitter for Lincoln in winning his third straight game. The Chiefs collected 13 singles, four by Jim Lynn.

Sioux City, which pounded out 18 hits to Des Moines, didn't surrender until the final out. The Soos had the bases full with two out when Bolivar Hinojosa fled out to end the game.

Gus Ancimino paced Green Bay with a 3-run homer as Burlington lost for the thirteenth time in its last 16 games.

Score: Lincoln 10, Burlington 1. Des Moines 12, Sioux City 11. Topeka 5, Cedar Rapids 2. Fox Cities 3, Cedar Rapids 2. Green Bay 8, Burlington 1. Lincoln 5, Topeka 0.

Dodgers' Podres 2-Hits Giants To Win His 3rd Straight Game

By The Associated Press

Is this the year Johnny Podres finally gets the breaks and becomes a big winner? The stocky southpaw is remembered as the youngster who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their only world championship and as a one-time National league leader in shutouts and earned-run average.

Yet he's been a tough luck guy more often than not. He shut out the New York Yankees, 2-0, with an 8-hitter in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series, and he led the NL with six shutouts and a 2.66 ERA in 1957 (after a hitch in the Navy). Last year, however, was his first without serious injury and he hit his major league high with 13 victories. But he also dipped to his low in defeats with 15 — five by one run, two by a pair of runs — as the Dodgers finished seventh in Los Angeles.

Ace of Staff
Now he's back trying to beat the tough-luck jinx again, and at the moment he's the ace of the Dodger staff with a 5-2 record after pitching the best game of his career Monday for a 2-hit, 8-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants. It was his third straight success.

Podres had a no-hitter for 7 1/3 innings, then gave up consecutive singles by Daryl Spencer and Bob Schemidt. The Dodgers' third double play saved his shutout.

That pushed Los Angeles within 0-2 of idle third place Pittsburgh. Both are 3 games behind first place Milwaukee, 7-3, at Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs belted St. Louis, 9-4, in the only other game scheduled.

Podres, 26, got all the help he needed for his fourteenth shutout on a pair of 2-run homers by Gil Hodges against losing lefty Mike McCormick. Dick Gray also homered as the Dodgers collected nine hits against the second place Giants.

Podres, regaining confidence in the change-up that made him the World Series hero in '55, faced only 29 batters, struck out seven and walked three. It was the third career shutout over the Giants by Podres, who has pitched seven three-hitters.

The Cubs, who had lost four straight, three to the Cards, scored two in the first, then put it away at St. Louis on Jim Marshall's 3-run homer in the second of losing reliever Ernie Broglio (0-3). Bobby Thomson and Dale Long also homered for the Cubs. Rookie Bob Anderson (3-3), who had lost three straight, won it with Bill Henry's three-innings of 1-hit relief.

Is this the year Johnny Podres finally gets the breaks and becomes a big winner? The stocky southpaw is remembered as the youngster who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their only world championship and as a one-time National league leader in shutouts and earned-run average.

Yet he's been a tough luck guy more often than not. He shut out the New York Yankees, 2-0, with an 8-hitter in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series, and he led the NL with six shutouts and a 2.66 ERA in 1957 (after a hitch in the Navy). Last year, however, was his first without serious injury and he hit his major league high with 13 victories. But he also dipped to his low in defeats with 15 — five by one run, two by a pair of runs — as the Dodgers finished seventh in Los Angeles.

Ace of Staff
Now he's back trying to beat the tough-luck jinx again, and at the moment he's the ace of the Dodger staff with a 5-2 record after pitching the best game of his career Monday for a 2-hit, 8-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants. It was his third straight success.

Podres had a no-hitter for 7 1/3 innings, then gave up consecutive singles by Daryl Spencer and Bob Schemidt. The Dodgers' third double play saved his shutout.

That pushed Los Angeles within 0-2 of idle third place Pittsburgh. Both are 3 games behind first place Milwaukee, 7-3, at Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs belted St. Louis, 9-4, in the only other game scheduled.

Podres, regaining confidence in the change-up that made him the World Series hero in '55, faced only 29 batters, struck out seven and walked three. It was the third career shutout over the Giants by Podres, who has pitched seven three-hitters.

Packers Sign Lew Carpenter, Tim Brown

Veteran Led Lions In Rushing During Two Campaigns

By ART DALEY
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Green Bay — The Packers today announced the signing of two halfback opposites — a low-drafted rookie from a small college and a highly-touted veteran who played on a couple of championship clubs.

They are Tim Brown of Ball State, the Packers' 27th draft choice who stands 5-11 and packs 190 pounds, and Lew Carpenter, the former Detroit Lion and Cleveland Brown who came to the Packers along with Bill Quinlan in the Billy Howton trade.

Big Edge
However opposite the two players seem, they both will have to make the 1959 Packers, it was pointed out by Coach GM Vince Lombardi.

Carpenter has a big edge in play-for-pay experience — 404 carries for 1,666 yards and an average of four per trip, plus 15 touchdowns. He

FRVC Relay Carnival Will be Held Tonight

The annual Fox River Valley conference relay carnival will be held this evening at Green Bay East stadium, with Sheboygan Central and Green Bay West defending their championships.

Appleton, buoyed by its runner-up showing in last Friday's sectional test, will try to improve upon its sixth-place finish in the recent FRVC track and field meet. The Terrors, champions of the carnival in both '56 and '57, finished fourth last year.

Tank is Back
Coach Ray Kinzinger's Terrors will have only one representative back from an event-winning unit of last year. He is pole vaulting star Dennis Tank. Last year, Tank, together with Mitchell Gebauer and Tom M. Verkuilen, set a new relays record of 33 feet, 9 inches for the pole vault.

This year, Tank will be teamed with Wally Bond and Dan McIntyre.

The only other AHS record, in addition to that in the pole vault, now on the carnival books, is in the 880-yard relay. The 1954 and '56 Terror units both ran it in 1:32.1.

Tonight's Terror entrants in the other field events will be these: discus, John Wordel, Ron Tollefson and Cliff Olson; broad jump, Bill Caesar, Jim Oasger and Dick Emerich; high jump, Paul Vander Hey-den, Anderson and Dick Syring, shot put, Wordel, Marv Hietpas and John Manier.

AHS' field event entrants are: high hurdles shuttle relay, Dave LaViolette, Al Gosh, Emerich and Jerry Gendron; 4-mile run, Uwe Strehmel, John Wiley, Mark Stumpf and Bill Ryle; 2-mile, Don Loker, Bob Fritz, John Rowlands and Dennis Gillespie; medley relay, Cal Klues, Dave Reinke, Wayne Polzin and Bob Roemer; 440-yard relay, Caesar, Don Brock, Bob Arndt and Dave Prosser; 880-yard relay, Reinke, Roemer, Mike Franke and Polzin; mile relay, Franke, Tank, Bill Simon and Pete Glasheen.

Sheboygan Central, whose co-championship last year was its first titular success in the meet, will be favored on the basis of its first place finish in the FRVC test recently.

The field events are due to begin at 4:30 p.m. and run to their completion. Running events are scheduled to start at 7:30.

Guenther Outduels Wedin, 3-2

By MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes' Bert Guenther shaded Cedar Rapids' Bob Wedin, 3-2, Monday night at Goodland field in a duel of onetime widely sought-after college pitching stars.

As top officials in the Milwaukee Braves' system looked on, right-hander Guenther and lefty Wedin matched 9-hitters.

Guenther, signed by Washington to a bonus contract off the Miami (O.) university campus, struck out seven Braves and walked one. Wedin, all-American baseballer at the University of Connecticut before signing with Milwaukee, fanned five and also issued just one pass — and his was intentional.

Guenther Wood

One Earned Run
Guenther allowed just one earned run in posting his second straight win and evening his record at 3-3. The big fast-baller has posted a sensational 2.12 earned run average in 46 and 2/3 innings of pitching this season. Monday's game was the third of the young campaign in which he's allowed only one earned run over the 9-inning run.

The rubber game of the 2-game series and the final contest of the Foxes' 9-day home stand is set for tonight at the Menasha Baseball park. Lethander Dick Griffith (2-3), won won the Foxes' first Menasha game last season, will try for a repeat. Cedar Rapids will go with another lefty, Mike Marinko (0-1).

Monday night's victory, clicked off in a speedy 1 hour and 55 minutes, enabled the sixth place Foxes to put a full lap between them and both seventh-ranking Burlington and eighth place Cedar Rapids. The Foxes also picked up a full game on fifth place Sioux City.

Phils Rally Against Bob Buhl to Hand Braves 7-3 Defeat

Cardwell Gets Victory; Logan Has Perfect Night at Plate

Philadelphia — (U) — Harry Anderson's single launched a 5-run seventh inning for the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night, good for a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Hurled Bob Buhl, who collected his third loss of the season, was in complete control for the first six innings and had the Braves winning the ball game, 3-1. He had given up only four hits going into the seventh.

Then Harry Anderson came up with a single into right field. He was followed by Willie Jones with another single, this time into center. Ed Bouchee knocked one into right to score Anderson and the uprising was on.

Freese Doubles
Joe Koppe ran for Jones but was forced on Carl Sawatski's bunt and Harry Haney, who batted for pitcher Don Cardwell, made the second out. Richie Ashburn got an intentional pass from Buhl to load the bases.

Pinchhitter Gene Freese doubled Sawatski and Bouchee home, and Manager Fred Haney sent Don McMahon in as relief for Buhl. McMahon walked Dave Philley, and Wally Post singled Ashburn and Freese home with the final run of the inning.

Cardwell, who fanned nine Braves before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter, notched his first win of the season without a loss.

Philadelphia added another run in the eighth inning on a walk to Koppe, a balk by reliever Bob Giggie and Sawatski's single.

Sawatski got his second homer of the season in the Supreme Court KO's Louisiana Ban on Negro-White Bouts

Washington —An- The supreme court Monday knocked out a Louisiana ban on boxing matches between Negroes and whites.

In a unanimous decision, the court upheld a ruling by a special 3-judge U. S. district court in New Orleans that the ban is unconstitutional. The lower court ruling had been appealed by Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion of Louisiana.

The supreme court announced its affirmation in a brief order which gave no explanation.

The special court, in a suit by Negro Boxer Joseph Dorsey, Jr., decided a 1956 Louisiana law and a corresponding regulation by the state athletic commission violated the equal protection and due process of law clauses of the federal constitution's fourteenth amendment.

Gremillion's appeal said "the great weight of authority has consistently held that the regulation of pugilistic contests is within the police power of the state."

Foxes Win, Play Tonight In Menasha

(including 77 Knothole clubbers) saw one of the finest catches in Goodland field history in the eighth inning.

With teammate Jake Wood on first base and no one out, Fox third baseman "Potato" Pascual shot a liner into right center field. Braves' center fielder Joe Trenary took after the ball, though he admitted later he didn't think he had a chance for it, and made a desperation dive — while on the dead run — at the last minute.

Trenary caught the ball while he was stretched out in the air and parallel to the ground. Then, he got to his feet and fired the ball to first base to double Wood. The catch saved at least one run and probably two since "Chuck" Weatherspoon, the next batter, singled.

Officials Rave

Milwaukee Farm Director John Mullen and Braves Assistant Farm Director Rollie Hemond raved about the play. And, Fox Cities Manager Jack McKeon and Cedar Rapids Pilot Alex Monchack both called it just about the best they've ever seen.

Guenther set down the Braves in order in the first, seventh and ninth innings — striking out the side in the seventh. Weiden, who owned a 5-3 record with Topeka in the Class A Western league last year, got the Foxes 1-2-3 in the first, second, fourth, sixth and seventh.

The visitors went on top, 1-0, in the top of the first when Trenary and John Stratton reached on consecutive errors by shortstop "Zorro" Versalles and second baseman Valdez Vila.

Bloops Single

Mack Jones blooped a single to score Trenary.

The Foxes went ahead, 2-1, on five hits in their half of the third. Speedy Ben Sinquefeld beat out a single off Dick Selinger's shin and then Bob Mason lined a base hit to center. Guenther topped the ball down the first base line and beat it out to load the bases.

Versalles got the frame's fourth straight hit, a line shot to left, scoring Sinquefeld, but Mason was out at the plate on a perfect throw from Jones. Then, Pascual's bloop single to right tallied Guenther.

The visitors tied it in the

Scores in 9th

The Foxes counted the winning run in the fifth. Mason led off with a single to center and went to second on Guenther's infield out. Versalles fanned but then Wood — who has hit safely in all four of his games with the Foxes — whacked a single to center to score Mason.

Versalles stretched two off. The victory brought him top money of $2,500 and snapped a 4-year jinx. It was the first PGA tournament win for the Borrego Spring, Calif., pro since he joined the circuit in 1955.

South Africa's Gary Player, the 23-year-old flash from Johannesburg, wound up second. Al Balding of Markham, Ont., Canada was third.

Balding Out Early

Whitt, in trouble all the way and in danger of losing his lead, fired a clutch birdie on the eighteenth hole to wind up tied with Player and Balding with a 72-hole total of 272.

In the playoff, Balding was jostled out on the first hole. His second shot left him a 20-foot putt that he missed to go par 4. Whitt and Player were down in birdie 3s.

On the second hole, Player's approach went into a sand trap. He blasted out but missed a 10-foot putt and went bogie 5. Whitt was on in 2, down in 2.

Tokyo Is Chosen For '64 Olympics

Detroit's Bid Fails; Innsbruck, Austria, Obtains Winter Games

Munich, Germany—Tokyo today was chosen for the site of the 1964 Olympic games and Innsbruck, Austria, for the winter games.

Tokyo will be the first international host to the international sporting competition.

Backers of Detroit, who have been trying to bring the games to the Michigan city for 20 years, were much disappointed at the Tokyo victory. But they said they would be back to try for the 1968 games.

Heaviest Competition
Then heaviest competition then is likely to come from Vienna, Buenos Aires and Santiago, Chile.

The International Olympic committee voted overwhelmingly for Innsbruck, in the Austrian Alps only a few miles from the Brenner pass. The Austrian resort won 49 of the 58 ballots, the other nine going to Calgary, in Canada. Innsbruck lost by only one vote to Squaw Valley, Calif.

Fractional Gains And Losses Prevail In Active Trading

New York — The stock market milled unevenly in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so prevailed among most key stocks.

A few stocks made wider gains, among them high-priced International Business Machines which added about a dozen points and Zenith which recovered about 4 points of recent losses.

Steels and motors were mostly higher while oils and airlines were unchanged to a bit on the upside.

Electronics and some other space age issues were mostly lower.

Chrysler was ahead about a point while General Motors

Assembly Sends Tavern Bill to Gov. Nelson

Madison — The Wisconsin legislature today sent to Gov. Nelson what may be the most delicate proposition of the year — a bill to permit taverns under local option to remain open an extra hour at night during the period of daylight saving time from late April until late September.

The assembly today approved a senate-endorsed bill sponsored by northern Wisconsin resort interests. The vote was 53 to 40.

Gov. Nelson, who will get the bill in about two weeks, has not commented directly on the matter, but he voted against a similar bill in the 1937 legislature.

and Ford gained sizable fractions.

Lukens Steel advanced well over a point.

American Telephone was off slightly following the request of congressional committee members for reopening of an anti-trust case against the company.

American Tobacco fell 2 to 96 on a block of 1,400 shares, later trimming a fraction from the loss.

U. S. government bonds were mixed to slightly lower in quiet dealings.

Kaukauna Woman Nominated to State Health Council

Mrs. Ray Nelson, Kaukauna, was elected to a 3-year term on the Wisconsin State Health Council at its annual meeting at Green Lake Monday.

Mrs. Nelson reported to the council on the county-wide immunization program and noted that 98 per cent of the cards sent to doctors got returns. She also talked on the countywide health survey taken a few years ago and that the Outagamie county Health Council has asked the county board to help set up a city-county health program.

The council is a state fact-finding and educational agency for promotion of better health measures. It works with local health councils, volunteer and governmental agencies in the field of public health.

A special report on immunization against diseases was given by Dr. William B. Hilbrand, Menasha, president of the Wisconsin Medical Society.

Appleton Firm Introduces New Carbonizing Press

A new rotary press unit, designed to fit on another press, has been introduced by the Doven division of Appleton Machine company to apply carbon on selected spots on various business forms.

The hot spot carbonizing unit is the first to operate with a single or multiple web and variable sheet sizes. The press can handle web widths from 12 to 32 inches and sheet lengths from 14 to 34 inches in quarter-inch size increments.

At speeds of 10,000 impressions per hour, the carbonizing ink will set instantly and for higher speeds a self-contained air manifold is used to set the ink.

A wax-base ink is used in hot spot carbonizing. When heated, the wax rises to the surface and is instantly cooled forming a thin layer of wax over the carbon ink to help eliminate smudging. The process on forms such as checks, invoices, payroll forms and similar materials will last up to 15 years without deterioration. It eliminates 1-time carbon paper and permits multiple printed forms capable of producing 15 legible copies.

Trinity Based In History, Pastor States

Christian Doctrine Is Fundamental,
Rev. Wilke Says

The doctrine of the Trinity has been a fundamental part of the teaching of the Christian community since Pentecost, the Rev. Carl Wilke, rector of All Saints Episcopal church stated Sunday.

Speaking on Trinity Sunday the Rev. Wilke traced the history of the doctrine of "God in three persons, yet not three Gods but one God."

"Christianity is unique among the religions of the world in that it is grounded in divine event, what God has done for 'us men and for our salvation' upon the stage of human history," he declared.

Grew From Experience
The Rev. Mr. Wilke said thinking about the nature of God, to which we give the inspiring title the doctrine of the trinity, grew out of the life and experience of ordinary men and women.

"The wonderful thing about the Christian doctrine of the trinity is that it welds into an indissoluble unity three great axioms of Holy Scripture which appear to be mutually incompatible," he said.

"The first great Biblical axiom to which the whole of the Old Testament testifies is monotheism. This is the deep religious conviction there is but one God, holy and transcendent, who created the universe."

"The incarnation brought into human experience the second great axiom of the Bible... the divinity of Christ."

After Pentecost
"The third great axiom," Father Wilke stated, "followed from the Christian experience of the gift and activity of the Spirit after Pentecost."

Pointing out that Christians think of God as creator, redeemer and sanctifier, the Rev. Mr. Wilke said he is nevertheless, one.

"Our total life of wholehearted commitment to God is possible only through the operation of the Holy Spirit, proceeding from the Father and His Son, our Saviour. This doctrine is the foundation of all our communion with God," he said.

The Episcopal rector noted the Christian ecclesiastical calendar centers around the life of Jesus — Christmas, Epiphany, lent, holy week,

Climbs Into Cage and Kicks Lion on Nose

Dudley, England — (U) — Edward France climbed into a cage with three lions Sunday and kicked one of the beasts on the nose.

France, a 17-year-old butcher's apprentice, said he acted on a sudden impulse. Fortunately the lions had just been fed. Keepers said otherwise he probably would have been killed.

"I thought 'I'm a pretty skinny meat and I don't believe they'll bother me,'" France told a reporter afterward.

"But one of them looked up and began to smack his chops. He looked at me very closely and I thought 'skinny or not, I'd better get out of here.'"

France climbed back over the safety fence.

Father Dies Aiding His Son

Boise, Idaho — (U) — A father slumped dead in the street Sunday as he knelt to put a pillow beneath the head of his unconscious son. A doctor who arrived moments later said the father, James E. Hinderliter, 40, apparently died of a heart attack.

Hinderliter had called the doctor himself, after emerging from his house to see his son, James L., 15, lying in the street beside his motorcycle. The youth lost control of the cycle trying to avoid striking a dog. After making the call, the father rushed out with a pillow and a blanket.

The teenager was hospitalized with internal injuries. His condition was listed as fair.

Texas Wedding Party Ends With Tragedy

Falls City, Texas — (U) — A weekend wedding party in this south Texas farming community turned from gaiety to tragedy as the bridegroom's father died and the latter's father was charged with murder.

Sheriff Harper Morris said it happened this way: After Harry Pawlick was married Saturday, his father, Henry Pawlick, 48, threw a wedding party in the community hall.

The elder Pawlick decided his father, Leon Pawlick, 76, should attend the party. When he went to Leon Pawlick's farm home, he was struck in the stomach by a shotgun blast.

Morris said the pair had been feuding since an argument years ago over farming practices.

Easter and the ascension. He said observance of Trinity Sunday dates back to the early part of the tenth century and summarizes the church's experience and reflection upon the nature of God.

Chinese Commune Experiment Something New in History

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
New York — The central committee of the Chinese communist party has issued a document on the communes which is most interesting because it discusses the new concepts concerning the family system.

For many centuries, the Sokolsky family was the realistic governing body in China. The emperor was remote; his officials were too important to deal with small matters. Family pride and perpetuation provided the social pressures which influenced the individual to live within a moral code. The government in China never exercised as much power over the individual as the family (clan).

Of this, the central committee pamphlet says: "It is true that the Chinese people have broken the feudal patriarchal system. It must be known that this patriarchal system has long since ceased to exist in capitalist society and that this is a matter of capitalist progress. However, we have gone a step further to establish a democratic and united family, something that is rare in general in capitalist society."

The commune then is not only a socio-economic system for the production of goods but also for the elimination of the family as a moral force. The hours of labor are regulated in the commune: eight hours for sleep; four for meals and relaxation; eight hours for labor; two for study. (Two hours missing!) children under nine must not work, although they may "cultivate the habit of work."

It is very difficult to see how the communists could dominate and control the Chinese people unless they destroyed the Chinese family system in which loyalty was focussed on the clan. The elders, the senior generation, exercised a final authority over all members, no matter where they were situated. The Chinese family system produced a wholesome society which survived political changes and economic calamities. The first real attack upon it was the introduction of Christianity in the 19th century from overseas. Christianity could not accept polygamy and in some manner encouraged free rather than family-arranged marriages. As, however, all the Christian sects influenced a very small segment of the Chinese population, local customs prevailed until recent years. The Chinese communists are not attempting to influence the Chinese people to accept Marxist moral concepts. They are deliberately smashing the ancient Chinese family system by destroying the ancestral temple, by separating husband from wife in communal buildings, by placing children under the care of the state, in common mess halls, nurseries and kindergartens.

As far back as 1926, the Chinese communists were experimenting with the destruction of the family system. This was particularly true in Hunan province where a nude parade occurred, the object of which was to establish youth autonomy. At the time, this demonstration of independence by nudity was greeted with universal laughter. Nevertheless, it was no joke. It was a protest against parental authority. It was more than that. It was a protest against the entire social system which had been erected in China for centuries and which had sustained that civilization.

What the commune will ultimately do to China no one can say because no such experiment has ever been performed anywhere on such a vast scale — perhaps 600,000,000 human beings — and with such finality. It is something altogether new in human history.

Episcopal-Sponsored Church Site of Dulles Funeral Rites

Washington — (U) — Washington National cathedral, where funeral services will be held for Presbyterian John Foster Dulles Wednesday, is administered by an Episcopal foundation. But under its constitution the cathedral is open to all people regardless of denomination.

Ministers of many denominations preach there, even at Episcopal services.

That is why it is possible for services to be held at the cathedral for Dulles. The cathedral will be turned over to a Presbyterian church for the services.

Another Presbyterian, President Woodrow Wilson, is buried in a crypt at the cathedral.

For 24 hours in advance of the funeral services, the body of Dulles will rest in the cathedral's Bethlehem chapel with an honor guard of servicemen keeping watch.

Dulles is being given an official rather than a state funeral. Before a state funeral, a body lies in state in the rotunda of the U. S. capitol.

Usually state funerals are held for presidents, vice presidents or such persons as the unknown servicemen. There have been exceptions — the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, for example.
